Chester S. Lord Dead.
A Dress Suit Headsman.
The Richest Brothers?
A Rich Indian Lady.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CHESTER S. LORD died yesterday, 83 years old. His life was long, happy and useful to many whom he trained in newspaper work during his career as managing editor of the New York Morning Sun, under Charles A. Dana.

Lord, managing editor; Bogart, city editor; Clark, night editor, were a wonderful newspaper trio. That Dana was able to secure all three for his New York Sun, and knew enough to keep them, proves how able an editor and owner he was. Selecting good men is one-half of success.

Knowing how to develop and keep them is the other half.

HITLER LETS it be known that what he says, he means. In Altona, yesterday four "Reds," convicted of attacks on Nazis were beheaded. It seems strange in these days of electric chairs, and "lethal rooms" that kill criminals with gas, to think of cutting off a criminal's head.

And strangest of all, the German headsman does his work in "full evening dress"—swallow tail coat, big open shirt front, white bow-tie.

All this must annoy a sincere "Red" opposed to social frills.

A BOOK has been written to show that the Mellon family, of Pittsburgh, is the richest family in the world, the combined fortunes of the Mellon brothers, according to the book, amounting to more than two billions of dollars.

It is easy to present such imaginary fortunes to a successful chosen few, but real figures are usually multiplied, once or twice.

Whatever the Mellons are worth, they, and their father before them, got it from productive, constructive work, building ships, railroads, factories, manufacturing plants of all kinds. What they have done has developed the country, created payrolls, and even in these changing days that kind of work is generally approved.

IT IS certain that the Mellons have not worked all their lives in vain. Before President Harding was inaugurated, he invited this writer to see him in St. Augustine, Fla., to talk about the cabinet that he was planning. He said, among other things:

"I am going to make the second richest man in the world Secretary of the Treasury. What do you think the country will say to that?"

He added that "the second richest man" was Andrew Mellon, and was told the world's richest man ought to know something about money, and make a good Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Mellon did become Secretary of the Treasury, and a very good one.

The country would be bothered now, if it had to pay off, in these times, the billions that Mr. Mellon paid off, when "money was the cheapest thing in the world."

YESTERDAY New York was still talking about Monday's great heat, 102 degrees in the shade, 141 degrees in the sunshine. Everything is comparative. In Death Valley that would be a pleasant cool day.

On the Mojave desert, where this writer is an alfalfa farmer, by proxy, temperatures of 110 to 115 degrees are welcome, because they mean rapid growth of the alfalfa and quick drying of hay.

On good land there, at Hodge, a crop of alfalfa grows to cutting height in 19 to 22 days. But at eight dollars a ton, baled, there is not much opportunity for N. R. A. to do more than sympathize.

HANNA ANDERSON, 26-year-old member of the Creek Indian tribe, after a life of drudgery, got word from the government yesterday that she had won a lawsuit over oil lands and would receive accumulated monies amounting to $1,050,000.

Many will suggest that the Creek lady will spend so much money foolishly, and perhaps she will, but not more foolishly than young white gentlemen that inherit similar sums from their fathers.

According to figures carefully prepared by life insurance companies, the chances are that some man or men will have taken the $1,050,000 away from Hanna Anderson in two to three years.

But they will be exciting years, filled with many compliments and protestations that the Creek lady never heard before.

GEN. JOHNSON, whose motto is "quick action," announces N. R. A. wage and hour agreements with nine of the largest groups of retailers that are expected to increase the number of employed by 1,100,000 and the size of payrolls by $900,000,000 a year.

The application of N. R. A. codes and rules is expected to shorten hours and increase pay in nearly all cases.

OFFSETTING to some extent the good N. R. A. news and the administration's effort to make us all prosperous and happy again, there comes unpleasant strike news. The unions do not intend to give up their control of working conditions and wages.

There is serious rioting in coal strikes.

In New York, state troopers, wearing steel helmets and gas masks, disperse with clubs and gas bombs, farmers trying to prevent delivery of milk at prices that seem too cheap to them.

In Italy and Germany government arranges everything—wages, hours, and workers and employers have nothing to say.

That condition may come here, but not soon. We are a long way from the days of Henry the Second, when a workman, wandering from his own parish

Mrs. Costello Swears Innocence by Soul Of Dead Baby

COURTHOUSE, SALEM, Mass., Aug. 2.—Jessie Costello took the stand today and swore upon the soul of her little dead baby that she did not murder that child's father.

You won't find those words in the transcript of the murder trial in which the beautiful young widow stands accused of giving the Borgia cup to the man she still calls "My Bill."

But that's what it meant—that's what it really was.

'GHOST' OF DEAD BOY

For just a moment, a moment that took Jessie Costello by the throat and held her voiceless, that twisted her face into a flushed agony, the ghost of that little boy walked softly into the courtroom and his mother remembered—you could see that she remembered.

For just that moment she forgot that she was on trial for murder, that she had been branded an adulteress by a crature who calls himself a man, that upon the words she speaks and the impression she makes depends her very life.

And she just remembered the hours when that little life went out—and she and Bill, the dead man, stood beside him and comforted each other.

And from that moment she went on to begin her denial of the things they claim she did—the poison they claim she fed her

Dr. Baker Returns From 'Mystery Trip'

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, returned today on the liner St. Louis after a brief visit to France and Germany.

Before leaving for his home in Pittsburgh, Baker was asked about conditions in the countries he visited. He replied:

"Frankly, my trip was a mystery one and I don't want to talk about it now. Maybe in a few days I'll have something to say."

Couzens Pays Cash To Closed Banks

DETROIT, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—United States Senator James Couzens today paid in full assessment against stock held in his wife's name in eDtroit's two closed national banks.

Forwarding checks totaling $30,423.39 to the bank receivers, Senator Couzens said that, although collection of the assessments has been restrained by court action, "the moral obligation to pay is clear."

Roosevelt Eyes Coal Strike

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt is watching closely the activities in the strike in the Pennsylvania coal fields through Secretary Perkins and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, with whom he is leaving the situation insofar as it may affect the federal government.

The President is keeping close contact through the media of telephone, telegraph, and correspondence. He is talking by telephone with Miss Perkins and Gen. Johnson on developments in the coal strike. It was said no requests for federal intervention have been received and there was no indication that federal action was contemplated, although the situation is regarded as serious.

Johnson flew to Harrisburg today to address the businessmen of Pennsylvania, and it was thought by many that he might discuss the coal strike situation. In Washington last night he said he was powerless to act until a coal code has been approved.

WELCOMES JOHNSON

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, today introduced Gen. Hugh S. Johnson to hundreds of business and labor leaders with a pledge that the commonwealth and its people are squarely behind the National Recovery Administration.

In his brief introductory remarks the Governor exhorted the capacity audience to guarantee that pledge by joining wholeheartedly in the program as outlined by the NRA chief.

Heinie Meine, who generally spells trouble to the representatives of his home balliwick, loosened up to face the Redbirds. Manager Frisch had Tex Carleton, one of his righthand aces, ready for slab duty.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran slab star, joined the Cardinals today. Given his release by the Cubs, Burleigh immediately negotiated a contract with the St. Louis club. He was in uniform this afternoon.

300 Miners Out At Sykesville Pit

PUNXSUTANEY, Pa., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Three hundred miners walked out at Sykesville, near here today. No disorder was reported.

MILITIAMEN GUARDING MINES

12 Plants Closed in Coke Region; Pickets Still Active

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 2.—Peace came to the strike-torn coke region today under the protection of machine guns, manned by determined National Guardsmen. No disorder was reported as the day wore on.

Mines of the district were picketed by orderly groups of men and women. Two more operations were affected. The Jamison mine of the South Union Coal Company, an independent, was shut down. Continental No. 1 mine, one of three H. C. Frick Coke Company mines still operating, operated at about 25 per cent.

MINES SHUT DOWN

Twelve key mines of the Frick company were shut down on orders from the Scottdale office. Four of the Frick mines, the center of mass picketing demonstrations, were guarded by National Guard machine guns, bayonets and automatic rifles, as well as the usual details of state police and a heavily reinforced army of company deputies armed with tear gas bombs and riot, submachine and gas projectile guns. The deputies were stationed on company property.

Star Junction was the scene of most of the excitement. It was here that six persons were shot and a crowd of pickets gassed in a clash yesterday between company deputies and strikers.

More than 1,000 pickets gathered together from all parts of the district occupied the public highways around all sides of the

Frick Head, Pinchot to Confer

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Thomas Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, will met with Gov. Gifford Pinchot late today in an attempt to secure protection for employes of bituminous mines who want to work but are being prevented or intimidated by pickets and strike agitators.

The announcement of the meeting was made by the Governor after an exchange of telegrams. The Governor's telegram, dated today, was in response to one from Moses on Monday in which the latter asserted that if any actual police protection was being given in Fayette County, the miners there would be at work.

The Moses telegram was in response to one from the Governor in which he asked the coal company executive to meet here with representatives of the miners' union. That Moses flatly refused to do, holding that it was not for them to decide whether the "lawful rights" of employes who wanted to work should be preserved.

Girl's Clothing Torn In Pickets' Battle

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP.) Forty-three pickets, most of them girls, were arrested today after a girl worker was attacked and her clothing torn in a demonstration against employes of the Clover Cravat Company, Elmer Schaffer, president of the company said only three of his 63 employes are on strike. He has pledged to operate under the President's blanket code.

Prank of Mother Fatal for Child

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—The death of Sybil Revor, 10, today was attributed to an injury inflicted when her mother playfully tossed a slipper at the child's brother, Russell, 17. The slipper inflicted only a small flesh wound above the child's eye.

PINCHOT'S WIFE ON PICKET LINE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Pennsylvania's Governor, was on the picket line again today—this time among the strikers at the Blue Moon hosiery plant at Croyden, north of Philadelphia.

While there, she took time out to telephone Acting Superintendent of Police Joseph A. Lestrange, in Philadelphia, to denounce the activities of police on strike duty at the Cambria hosiery company plant in this city.

Hatless, and wearing a yellow frock, the Governor's wife addressed 1,800 pickets at the Blue Moon mill, and then conferred with a committee of strikers from the Cambria plant before phoning Lestrange.

Lestrange denied pickets had been roughly handled and said police were trying to aid peaceful picketing and maintain order.

No Skirt Doffing For Girl Net Stars

EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Although the heat crowded the 100-degree mark, the players in the Maidstone Club tennis tournament for women appeared in conventional skirts. Signs in the clubhouse warned the participants, including Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and the English cup invaders, that shorts would not be permitted.

40,000 in Phila. Seek Home Loans

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—More than 40,000 distressed home owners sought aid from the Pennsylvania branch of the Home Owners Loan Corporation yesterday, the first day the state offices were open, Orson N. Ritzman, assistant state manager in charge of the Philadelphia office announced today.

Rough Sea Thwarts Girl's Channel Swim

DOVER, England, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Mercedes Gleitze, who swam the channel from the French side in 1927, failed today in an attempt to do it from the British side. Because of the rough sea she gave up when she was about 10 miles out of Dover.

Hot Wave Hit By 5-Degree Drop Here

The mercury today had dropped only five degrees below yesterday's temperatures as slight relief arrived from the intense heat of the last week. Cooler weather was on the way from the Northwest, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman stated. Showers are possible today and likely tomorrow, he stated.

There were showers in some parts of the city last midnight, especially in East End, but they offered little relief—in fact, only upset the plans of hundreds who were sleeping in the parks.

Charles Rutherford, 24, of West Homestead, was sitting on the edge of Jefferson Beach swimming pool at West Elizabeth yesterday when he swooned and died before a doctor arrived. The Coroner's report blamed a heart attack.

8th Code for Coal Industry Submitted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Six bituminous operators' associations from the Rocky Mountain producing region today submitted their code of fair competition to the Industrial Administration—the eighth such presented.

STEEL, GLASS, COAL GAIN

Steel, coal and glass—Pittsburgh's leading industries—increased operations sharply during the latter part of June and the early part of July, the review of business conditions in the Fourth Reserve District, published by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, declared today.

The bank noted an eight-point increase in steel production in the Pittsburgh and Cleveland steel centers, and at the same time Youngstown mills increased operations 14 points, or approximately 28 per cent.

The bank also reported that coal production in recent weeks has been the highest for this season in two years. Output of mines was up 58 per cent in June from the corresponding month of 1932.

The review declared:

"The glass industry has experienced an unprecedented demand for goods in recent weeks and orders for electrical appliances and household goods have improved."

Lehman Proposes Foreclosure Ban

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Swamped with demands for the relief of small home owners facing loss of their property because of unemployment, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman asked the New York Legislature today to declare a moratorium on home and farm mortgage foreclosures until May 1, 1934, at least.

PURCHASING EXPANSION SOUGHT

Aim to Synchronize Spending With Job Gain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A major buyers' drive to assure that purchasing power bolstered by the NRA wage-raising, job-creating program will be used to its utmost in stimulating national recovery was promised today by Hugh S. Johnson, pilot of the industrial control machine.

This significant expansion of the government push to obtain better times will be started when "the time is ripe," he said, and was taken to mean as soon as industry and business have complied in sufficient volume with the terms of the voluntary re-employment agreement and of the permanent codes of fair practice to put millions of new money into the country's payrolls.

AGREEMENTS PUSHED

The movement of industry and business to join the NRA campaign continued in full swing, fresh reports from all over telling of mounting totals of signed agreements.

To speed it the administration put under way a general mobilization of campaign committees of state, regional and community leaders to awaken full public support.

Meantime, Johnson spread the application of codes by declaring in force—pending final determination—agreements submitted by the electrical manufacturing, radio, bedding, rayon weaving and rayon yarn manufacturing industries.

The electrical and two rayon codes have been examined in public hearings already, but have not been finally promulgated.

The others still are to be taken up in hearings, their dates not yet formally set.

The blanketed industries, the administration said, now employ

Owen Young's Milk Dumped by Pickets

VAN HORNESVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Three cans of milk from the farm of Owen D. Young, internationally known industrialists, were dumped by pickets in the strike of Central New York dairy farmers today.

The farm is about 30 miles from Boonville, center of yesterday's dumping activity. Troopers at once were put on road patrol work.

Man Leaps to Death, Fearing Knife Futile

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—John Moss, 42, today plunged 40 feet to his death from the steps of an elevated railroad station at Fifty-second and Market streets. The cashier said he told her shortly before his death that he feared an operation had been unsuccessful.

French Girl Claims New Altitude Record

ORLY, France, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A new world altitude record for women using a light airplane was claimed today by Helene Boucher, whose instruments registered 6,100 meters (20,013 feet).

The former record, 5,516 meters (18,097 feet), was held by Mae Haizlip, an American.

Frick $20,000,000 Art Museum Work Begins

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Workmen were completing the demolishment of buildings today behind the home of the late Henry Clay Frick on Fifth avenue and making ready for the construction of an addition which will throw open to the public the greatest private collection of art ever assembled in this country.

In the days before the war Frick, steel and coke baron of Pittsburgh, spent more than $20,000,000 for pictures. Frick died in 1919. His widow died two years ago. And now the trustees of his estate are carrying out the wish expressed in his will that the great house become a public museum.

Visitors will see pictures for which amazing prices were paid pictures whose importation to America caused European parliaments to pass laws against works of art leaving their countries.

They will see the set of 14 panels painted by Fragonard for Madame du Barry for which Frick paid the late J. P. Morgan $1,250,000 the highest price ever paid for a work of art.

They probably will pass by, however, with hardly a glance, the cases containing the Limoges enamels, relics of the Middle Ages. Frick paid $1,500,000 for them.

SUCCOP NEAR FREEDOM AS PINCHOT CUTS TERM

Bertram L. Succop, former city purchasing agent, will be able to stroll out of the County Jail today or tomorrow.

Having served half of a one-year sentence Succop was granted commutation of sentence yesterday by Gov. Pinchot on recommendation of the Board of Pardons.

Succop who went to jail February 12, was convicted with the late ex-Mayor Kline of malfeasance in office. The World War veteran was accused of exhibiting favoritism in the distribution of city contracts, which ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

His application to the Board of Pardons was accompanied by one of the longest petitions ever gathered in Pittsburgh, attesting to the popularity of the South Sider.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN PATROL STRIKE-TORN MINES

STAR JUNCTION PICKETED BY 1,000 MEN

Deputies at Scene of Shooting Jeered; Plants Closed

Frick-owned community. Mining operations here have been suspended for several years, but there is an entrance through the workings into Colonial No. 4 mine.

About 50 guardsmen swept into the mining town from their camp near Brownsville at 4 o'clock this morning. Two machine gun squads quickly set up their weapons in vantage points where they could sweep the highway through the town. One gun was located on company property, the other in the highway.

Behind the company-owned Junction Hotel and only partly concealed from the road were more than a score of company deputies, heavily armed. They held riot guns in readiness and were plentifully supplied with tear gas bombs and projectile guns to repel any invasion of company property. Their presence was ignored by guardsmen and state police who patroled the highway. The militiamen fixed bayonets on their rifles and used the weapons to keep the pickets from blocking the road.

DEPUTIES TAUNTED

Nothing was done to hinder the pickets as they shouted their taunts to the half-hidden company deputies. Nobody attempted to go to work.

Machine guns were also set up by the guardsmen at Edenborn and Palmer mines of the Frick company. Reports last night that the strikers were arming to defend themselves against company deputies brought guardsmen on the double quick to Palmer mine, where they remained until almost daybreak when they were relieved by a larger force.

The miners were reported gathering for a march on the mine to prevent the importation of strike breakers. Neither strikers or strike breakers appeared and the guardsmen had a lonesome vigil. About an hour before dawn the pickets were out, but there was no disorder.

STRIKERS FIRED ON

At Footedale mine, a few miles away, pickets reported they were driven away last night by deputies who fired three shots over their heads. The strikers were picketing a street car stop. At Guard headquarters it was said there was no report of the shooting.

Two mines on the outskirts of Uniontown were affected this morning. Five hundred pickets gathered at the entrance to Continental No. 1 mine of the Frick company. This plant was not included in the shutdown order and has been working full blast since the strike began. Only four men went into the mine this morning, according to the pickets. The mine did not operate. Uniontown police gathered at the city limits watched the demonstration and state police and National Guardsmen cruised about the neighborhood in automobiles. Numerous company deputies, heavily armed, were observed on company property.

Half a mile distant is the Jamison mine of the South Penn Coal Company, an independent operation. The men employed at this mine attended a dance last night at High House, near Smithfield. On their way home they were "tipped" that the mine would be picketed. Nobody reported for work this morning.

LEADERS TO MEET

Efforts will be made today to bring together strike leaders of the district to formulate picketing rules in line with Gov. Pinchot's recommendations to United Mine Workers' representatives in Harrisburg yesterday.

Stephen Hausenbush, confidential investigator for the Governor, plans to meet with the strikers.

Yesterday's flareup of riot and bloodshed was tapered off last night with a squabble among pickets at Grindstone which resulted in two men being shot, and other minor beatings.

William Shaw, 30, and William Ralko, 33, both of Grindstone, were shot, neither seriously. According to the state police report, the men got into an argument over the picketing at Colonial No. 4 mine when Oscar Engle, said to be a union organizer, interfered. He was knocked down and a gun fell from his pocket. Shaw, according to police, grabbed the weapon and fired a shot into the ground which ricocheted and hit Ralko in the thigh. Another shot fired by somebody in the crowd struck Shaw. Both were taken to the Brownsville Hospital.

OHIO AUTOS STONED

Two automobiles bearing Ohio licenses were reported stoned at Filbert mine late yesterday afternoon, but nobody was hurt. A false alarm of trouble at Palmer mine brought machine gun squads from the National Guard headquarters, but nothing happened.

Charges of assault and battery were brought against 16 pickets by William Mervin, superintendent of Colonial No. 3 mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company and two miners. The informations were made before Alderman Matt Allen, of Uniontown.

Mervin's information names John Simons, John Sikora, Margaret Mensenko, Steve Mensenko, Tony Sager and John Marcinek, all picketes.

John Mumaw, of Gates, brought charges against J. A. Monroe, Arthur Brown, Leonard Heator, Paul Kocis and Robert Johnson, pickets, and Louis Saluga, Jr., of Buffington, made informations against Charles Pahula, Mike Hennessey, George Pudar, Steve Petronic and Mrs. Francis Ringer.

Lemont mine, north of Uniontown, was one of the last to remain open. It was closed yesterday afternoon following a demonstration in which 300 men and women are reported to have taken part. Ernest Van Sickle, boiler house employe, and Reilly Brooks, carpenter, were reported to have been beaten.

BEATEN BY PICKET

Ted Martin, 35 of Masontown, also reported to state police he was beaten by a picket at Filbert mine yesterday. Nobody was arrested.

A double-barrelled investigation into the death of Louis Padorsky, picket slain by bullets fired from an automobile at Colonial No. 3 mine yesterday, was under way. Coroner S. A. Baltz and District Attorney Wade K. Newell were making separate probes in an effort to determine the identity of two men said to be former Frick Coke Company deputies, accused of firing the shots.

Padorsky, a striker from Allison mine of W. J. Rainey, several miles away, was on the picket line with a group that had stopped the car and turned away when the occupants declared they were "agents." Someone in the crowd is said to have identified one of the men as a deputy and it was his shout to his companions that brought the gunfire from the car as it sped away.

VICTIM HEARD

Ben Brown, paralyzed by the effects of one of the bullets, made a statement to District Attorney Newell yesterday, who was accompanied by H. D. Friel, of Charleston, special investigator for the United States Department of Labor. Newell told Brown to talk to no one else.

Protests of motorists were being sent to various agencies of the state and county relative to the stopping of automobiles on the highways by picketers. James H. Dunn, president of the Uniontown Motor Club, said last night he was receiving the complaints and was forwarding them to headquarters of the State Highway Patrol at Harrisburg. Officers in charge of the local substation of the patrol say they will not interfere because it does not come under their jurisdiction as a motor law violation.

More Troops Needed -:- -:- By QUIN HALL

LEHMAN ACTS IN MILK STRIKE

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug 2.—(INS.)—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman moved swiftly today to prevent threatened bloodshed in the milk strike.

After receiving a telegram from Mayor E. H. Douglas of Boonville, warning there would be bloodshed if the "brutality" on the part of state police continued, Gov. Lehman sent Maj. John A. Warner, superintendent of police, to that section to take personal charge of the troopers.

At the same time the Governor told Mayor Douglas the state intended to give its full protection to any farmer who had refused to join the strikers and desired to deliver his milk to market.

It was estimated today more than 1,000 dairy farmers were on strike and their ranks were being increased hourly.

Boys to Declare Strike Demands

MONACA, Pa., Aug. 2.—The 112 "carrying-in" boys on strike at the Phoenix Glass Company were expected to formulate their demands today. The boys said they wanted higher wages and better working conditions. Four hundred and fifty other workers were made idle. The boys agreed to submit their demands to Thomas W. McCreary, general manager.

STRIKE GUIDES ORGANIZED BY UNION

Mines to Be Picketed Under Supervision Of State

Officials of the United Mine Workers of America today prepared to organize among striking miners small groups devoted to preserving the peace in the mine strike area—a plan described by Gov. Pinchot as a new kind of cooperation to establish peace and good order.

The move was in accordance with the union agreement with Gov. Pinchot to do all in their power to prevent violence. Returning from Harrisburg today, P. T. Fagan, president of district No. 5 of the U. M. W., and officials in other districts began carrying out the terms of the agreement.

MINES CLOSE

More mines in the Pittsburgh district closed today as a result of activities of strike pickets and decision of operators to close their plants until the unrest passes.

The union representatives agreed to co-operate with the National Guard and state police. The Guards will be notified of plans for meetings and picketing. Parades and demonstrations would be banned between 8 p. m. and 4 a. m.

"Union guides" will be formed among groups of pickets, according to the agreement, to preserve order and co-operate with the authorities.

AVERT TROUBLE

The Pittsburgh Coal Company closed its Ocean mine at Smithdale, the Warden at Douglas, Montour No. 10 at Library, Moon Run at Moon Run, Dixon at Imperial, Eclipse at Roscoe, McDonald No. 9 and Westland at Houston. It was said this action was taken to prevent trouble.

A picket line of 200 formed at Library, where the Pittsburgh Coal Company's Montour No. 10 mine is located. There was no disorder. Chief Deputy Sheriff B. V. Coffey and two other deputies visited Library to survey the situation.

Men employed under agreements with the United Mine Workers of America did not return to work at four Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company mines. Their walkout was regarded by union leaders as a "sympathy strike." Union officials have urged the men to return to work.

Two mines of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation at Ellsworth and Bentleyville were closed by strikes this morning. A parade of 3,000 or more men and women passed through Ellsworth carrying flags and banners.

UNIONS BACKED BY JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery Administrator, is getting emphatic as he reiterates the stand of NRA that manufacturers must recognize labor unions.

Told of reports from Reading, Pa., that he had advised hosiery manufacturers they could ignore the American Federation of Full Fashioned Hosiery Workers, Johnson thumped the table and declared:

"As I've said repeatedly, the law requires that manufacturers signing an agrement must recognize a labor organization of their workers' choosing."

MILITIA POWER MAY FACE TEST IN COURT

Schnader Holds State Troops Supersede Sheriffs

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—An opinion by Attorney General William A. Schnader that the Governor supersedes civil authorities may provide the basis for court action.

The opinion, given last night, is an answer to disputes of authority which have arisen since the Governor insisted that local authorities in strike areas waive their authority in favor of state police.

Gov. Pinchot ordered National Guardsmen into the Fayette County coal strike region last week because Sheriff Harry E. Hackney refused to withdraw deputies.

The opinion said:

"In any and every part of the Commonwealth, the Governor has the highest civil as well as military authority, to safeguard life and property and preserve law and order. All other civil police officers, including the sheriffs of the several counties and their deputies, wherever located, are subordinate to him.

"When the militia has been called out to quell riotous conditions in any part of the state, it acts solely under the orders of the Governor as commander-in-chief, and his military aides. The sheriffs of the several counties are without authority to give any directions whatever to the military forces."

Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of State Police, said that Attorney General Schnader's ruling has established the power of State Police in strike areas. He said, however, that the ruling will make no immediate change in the policy of the 25 state troopers now patrolling the Fayette County bituminous coal strike districts, adding:

"We will go along with the Sheriff as long as our respective policies agree."

MURDER CHARGE FACES RUBRIGHT

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—District Attorney Edgar Negley, of Butler County, this afternoon announced he would lodge a formal charge of murder against James Rubright, 29-year-old Harmony garage mechanic, held in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Demaris Sayre Rubright, who was blasted to bits in an automobile explosion on a lonely road near Portersville, Monday. Negley said:

"I expect to have a murder charge placed against Rubright before the day is over."

He said Rubright had admitted under questioning that he was with his 23-year-old wife until 15 or 20 minutes before the terrific explosion ripped the Rubright coupe asunder and scattered parts of the car and the New Castle woman's body over a 400-foot area.

Brandy-Fattened

MISS LILLIAN GISH

LILLIAN GAINS IN 'RUM BELT'

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Gloria Swanson, Lillian Gish and Ramon Navarro returned from Europe yesterday on the Olympic.

Miss Gish took the cure at Baden Baden and said she gained five pounds. The treatment, she related, included a brandy-soaked bandage wrapped around the waist nightly before going to bed. She said:

"Nothing is taken in the way of strong drink internally. I don't know why it is done, but it is effectual. Instead of a nightcap, one takes a belt."

Miss Gish will appear here next season in a new play by Oscar Sheridan and meanwhile will make a picture here based on Arnold Bennett's "The Dangerous Adventure."

Kern, who wrote the songs of "The Cat and the Fiddle," musical comedy of a few seasons ago and Navarro's next screen vehicle, caught the Olympic when he learned the actor-singer was aboard.

After making this picture and "The Laughing Boy," Oliver Lafarge's story of a Navajo Indian, Navarro plans to return to Mexico City for a series of concerts.

COMPANY TOWN FOES TO ENLIST ROOSEVELT

Seek End of System Through Federal Coal Code

President Roosevelt will be asked to incorporate in the code for the coal industry abolition of those phases of the company town that have produced a system paralleling peonage, representatives of 23 civic, social and religious groups have agreed.

A motion was unanimously passed and the Security League of Pennsylvania was authorized by representatives of these groups for the appointment of a committee of five to draft and present such petitions.

The group named Judge M. A. Musmanno and Charles T. Douds and other officers of the league will name the remainder, within a few days.

This action followed two sessions of the league and the representatives, held yesterday in the Craig street building of the Association for the Blind.

Speakers included Judge Musmanno, and James Clark and Joseph A. O'Hara, miners of Renton; Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Widdowson, of Black Lick, Indiana County; Dr. B. J. Hovde, of the University of Pittsburgh; Miss Elizabeth Wight, Philadelphia school teacher who investigated the company towns, and representative social and welfare workers.

Stephen Raushenbaush, secretary of the League, and Douds presided.

Speakers brought out these points against the company town:

That the company town, which began as a necessity due to isolation, has become an instrument of suppression.

That the company store charges much more than other stores, and that miners have to buy there, or fault is found with their work and they are harassed.

That companies, in violation of the law, get power from the Duquesne Light Company and resell it to the miners at exorbitant rates, such as $9 to $12 for a four-room house.

That some mine towns have neither medical nor sanitary regulations or protection; that malnutrition, due to lack of food and medical care and milk for children, places the nation on the eve of its greatest tuberculosis scourge.

That companies deduct "taxes" from miners pays, when they own no property.

That some companies take the taxes, fail to pay and when the miner is "sold out" by the authorities, buy the property back for a few dollars.

That pay envelopes range from 84 cents to a few dollars, with companies charging for past relief and past rent.

ROADS GUARDED IN MILK STRIKE

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Cumberland County roads are being guarded on orders of Gov. Pinchot that the State Highway Patrol clear them of pickets so that milk trucks can reach Harrisburg unmolested.

The Governor last night declared milk producers have not kept their agreement to stop picketing. They had assured him state police activity would be unnecessary, but the milk dealers insisted this was "boloney."

Immediate increases in the price of milk have been granted by the Harrisburg dealers, it was announced yesterday by John A. McSparran, Secretary of Agriculture. The new rates provide that the dealers will pay $1.70 a hundredweight for milk with 4 per cent butter fat.

McSparran said he "took it for granted" that was the "main thing" sought by the farmers.

HOSIERY STRIKE CONTINUES

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Clashes, new strikes and an occasional return of employes to their shops continue to mark the industrial unrest in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Thirty-five persons were arrested in Philadelphia yesterday in the day's fourth clash of police with strikers and sympathizers outside the Cambria Silk Hosiery Company's mill. Bricks thrown at a group of policemen precipitated the most serious disturbance.

A girl's dress was torn off and Harold H. Staudt, 25, son of an executive, was knocked unconscious in a melee outside the D. S. & W. hosiery mill, Reading. Ten thousand hosiery workers are on strike in that city.

Hupp Auto Workers Go Out on Strike

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—While government authorities sought today to settle a strike of 1,300 union garment workers in a dozen dressmaking plants, labor trouble developed in the Hupp Motor Car Corporation plant and the Van Dorn Iron Works.

Hupp officials said "several" employes had left their jobs but at the Cleveland Metal Trade office it was asserted "from 1,000 to 1,500" had quit work in protest against present wages and hours of labor.

End of Hollywood Movie Strike Looms

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Speedy termination of the strike of 4,000 workingmen in Hollywood's major movie studios was seen today following submission by the producers of a brief of their side of the matter to a fact-finding committee of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Strike leaders previously had presented their claims to the committee, and a series of hearings was expected to be scheduled in an effort to end the strike satisfactorily to both sides.

Fear of Surgeon's Knife Led Sylvia to Flee Film

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The fear that a surgeon's knife may sever her from the films forever was voiced today by Sylvia Sidney as she explained why she left Hollywood in the middle of a picture.

She said, speaking with difficulty:

"I underwent one operation in Hollywood for a throat ailment. If it doesn't take I'll have to have another operation for the complete removal of a gland, which will leave a scar on the outside of my face.

"If that happens it will be impossible for me to go on in pictures. And I can't go on with the picture I was making until I find out."

On Monday Miss Sidney boarded a plane and left Hollywood where she was making a picture with Maurice Chevalier. Paramount officials declaring her departure would cost them $100,000, have filed a complaint with the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Miss Sidney was informed on her arrival here last night.

Despite reports that Paramount might seek an injunction to prevent her from leaving the country the actress insisted she would take an extended trip to Europe at a date to be determined after consulting specialists here.

She said:

"I have received no complaint from the Paramount studio. They can't restrain me from going to Europe, because my doctor says I have to go to regain my health."

An actors' committee sent Miss Sidney a telegram from Hollywood yesterday, urging her to return to work. It said:

"Be a good trouper and let the show go on."

Good Samaritan Role Leads to Trouble

Being a Good Samaritan apparently is tough sometimes.

Nathan Davidson, of Niagara street, was one. Yesterday he rushed a motorcyclist, Grant V Bridge, 23, of Beechwood boulevard, who was fatally injured in a crash, to the hospital.

But an erroneous report to the Coroner's office made it appear that Davidson's truck had struck Bridge's machine.

So, instead of being pictured as a willing Samaritan, Davidson found himself represented as a party to the accident.

The actual driver was Israel Goodman, of Beechwood boulevard, the Coroner's office reported. He has been ordered to post bond.

The International Association of Police Chiefs, meeting at Chicago, declared the crime situation as serious as war and called for the "co-operation of all law-abiding citizens."

Universal Service.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 2.—With Charles F. Urschel, multi-millionaire oil man, free after payment of a ransom reported to be between $100,000 and $200,000, state and federal authorities bent their efforts today to the capture of Wilbur Underhill, escaped convict, and members of his gang.

On orders from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation at Washington, government agents will spread a manhunt through the entire Southwest with Underhill and his criminal gang as the first objective.

Urschel, after a captivity of nine days in a backwoods shack, was released by his kidnapers early yesterday in a driving rain near Norman, Okla., 30 miles from Oklahoma City.

The kidnapers were paid the ransom in a Kansas City hotel last Saturday, it was learned today.

The money was paid by Urschel's go-between within 48 hours of the action of a Kansas City jury in decreeing a death penalty for one of the kidnapers of Mary McElroy, daughter of Kansas City's city manager, abducted two months ago.

An agreement was made to say nothing of the negotiations, and to make sure their getaway the gangsters waited until early in the morning to release the oil millionaire.

Bob Brady, a member of the Underhill gang, is believed to have been one of the two men who drove Urschel to Norman.

Roosevelt Orders Moley To Probe Kidnap Racket

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt today requested Raymond Moley, Assistant Secretary of State, to make a special study of kidnaping and racketeering with the understanding that he retain his State Department office and return to it in the winter.

Mr. Roosevelt said he was asking Moley to undertake the special survey of methods of combatting crime at the request of Attorney General Cummings, who communicated with him today by telephone. Moley is an authority on crime study.

Meanwhile, no specific plans have been outlined by the administration for fighting kidnaping and racketeering, other than through co-operation by federal forces with state officers.

Go-Between's Pal Sought In O'Connell Abduction

ALBANY, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Chief of Police David Smurl issued an order this afternoon to his men to bring in John Oley, beer running pal of Manny Strewl, for questioning in connection with the kidnaping and ransoming of John J. O'Connell, Jr., nephew of the politically powerful Dan and Ed O'Connell, of Albany.

Strewl, alias Stroll, an ex-convict, acted as "go-between" in the ransom negotiations which resulted in the recovery of young O'Connell. Strewl paid over $40,000 to the kidnapers in New York City last Saturday night.

The police today had taken Strewl to New York City to go over the scene of the crime and to check various details of his story.

SHOAL HARBOR, Newfoundland, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Last-minute reports of fog over the Atlantic Ocean today forced the Italian air armada led by Gen. Italo Balbo again to postpone its non-stop trans-Atlantic hop to Valentia, Ireland.

VALENTIA, Irish Free State, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Officers at the Italian seaplane base announced today that if Gen. Italo Balbo is unable to bring over his air armada by August 10 he will return to Italy by way of the Azores.

Mrs. King is being tried on a charge of attempting to extort $50,000 from Bruce Barton, writer and advertising executive.

King, who received $25,000 from Barton in settlement of an alienation of affections suit, took the stand for the prosecution after both sides had rested to deny a statement his wife made on the stand to the effect that he married her to remove her as an obstacle to political ambitions she ascribed to Barton.

King said he never had seen or spoken to Barton.

Mrs. King then returned to the stand and denounced his testimony. She cried:

"Lies, all lies."

Whether Mrs. Hutton will file a cross-complaint to Hutton's suit for divorce in which he charged she humiliated him and that he "married Angelus Temple as well as Mrs. Hutton," was a matter being determined today by their attorneys, who were understood to be discussing a property settlement. Aimee declared:

"I want to see David face to face and hear from his own lips that he no longer loves me and that he believes all the things he said in his complaint."

NAVAL BID PLOT UNDER PROBE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Secretary of the Navy Swanson today ordered an immediate investigation of charges that four shipbuilding companies "connived" in presenting bids on three cruisers to be built in private yards.

The charges were made by Senator Trammell (Dem.), of Florida, in a letter to Swanson.

The award of contracts on the cruisers, which Swanson had hoped to make today, will be postponed pending the investigation.

Swanson named Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations; Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of naval construction and repair work, and Rear Admiral Samuel M. Robinson, chief of naval engineers, to make the investigation.

These three high ranking naval officers are due to call on President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., today.

In the event the investigation discloses nothing amiss Swanson hopes to be able to announce the awards late tomorrow or Friday.

Brooklyn Bridge Afire, Heat Blamed

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Brooklyn Bridge caught fire last night and firemen blamed the heat.

The blaze was confined to about 20 feet of treated planking in the center of the Brooklyn-bound vehicular lane.

The fireboat, William Strong, steamed to a point directly below the fire and erupted a geyser of water, while two crews of land-going apparatus attacked it from the bridge level.

Traffic was tied up half an hour in the affected lane. An investigation yielded nothing more tangible than spontaneous combustion as a cause.

REFORM WAVE DRAPES NUDES AT FAIR

Bits of Flimsy Crepe Appear and Show Goes on

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Bits of flimsy crepe today veiled the unblushing nudity of comely dancers at the World's Fair in compliance with the reform wave demanded by Mayor Edward Kelly.

Threats of immediate action against proprietors of the so-called nude shows in various concessions followed a visit of inspection by Mayor Kelly.

Performances that were especially objectionable, said the Mayor, were rhumba and nude shows in the Manhattan Gardens, the fan dances on the Streets of Paris and "Lady Godiva on a Camel."

Three of the "livelier" shows in the Oriental Village were closed last night by detectives. One of these was the "Theater Comique," which featured men impersonating women.

Sally Rand, fan dancer at the Streets of Paris, relunctantly adopted a mite of gauze as her contribution to the reform movement.

Comparatively heavy drapes cloaked the nude woman in "Nudity On the Half Shell" in Paris, while Hot-Cha-San did her dance in the concession Old Mexico with a coat of gilt covering her skin.

Some concessionaires threatened to start injunction proceedings to restrain Mayor Kelly.

GIRL DIES UNDER B. & O. TRAIN

Conflicting information was given out today by the Coroner's office and Braddock police regarding the death of a Braddock young woman struck by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train at First street, Braddock, last midnight.

The Coroner's record sets forth that the young woman was "supposed to have jumped in front of a train.

Clyde Masters, of 511 Sixth street, Braddock, who witnessed the girl's death, reported she had walked into the path of the train with her head down apparently unaware of the approaching train, Braddock police said.

Mrs. Natalie V. Brouch, of Corey avenue, said her sister, an orphan, was in nigh spirits yesterday and she knew of no reason why she would end her life. Mrs. Brouch said she knew nothing of any sweetheart of the dead girl dying recently.

Cox, Last Delegate To Parley, Sails

Today

in search of work, without permission, was branded on the forehead with a red hot iron.

C. F. URSCHEL, Oklahoma oil man, kidnaped while playing bridge, in his house, is released, having paid, it is said, $200,000 ransom. He was kept with his eyes "taped" for several days, which caused inflammation, the adhesive tape holding the eyelids down too firmly.

President Roosevelt has held a conference with the learned Prof. Moley, and others, concerning a systematic drive on kidnaping, which would include an agreement among governors of all states for united action.

Gen. Smedley D. Butler suggests:

"Round up all criminals under modified martial law, and jail for ten years all that have criminal records, or carry 'guns' and cannot prove that they have earned a living legally, for the past two or three years.

"Let the criminals prove it, instead of making the prosecutor prove it."

If some state tried that, it would soon be short of criminals.

The state of New York, at the request of Gov. Lehman, will probably make kidnaping a capital crime, with death the penalty when the captive has not been returned alive, before the kidnaper's trial.

Gov. Lehman also proposes that relatives paying ransom be held guilty of felony, and punished accordingly.

A majority will approve the death penalty, for a crime worse than murder. But punishing relatives that pay ransom, for "compounding a felony," will not be approved so widely.

IT IS the business of the state to prevent kidnaping, rather than to punish the victims of kidnaping. There are no kidnapings in England, France, Germany, Italy. Why not find out how they manage it?

LEADERS HERE APPOINTED IN JOB DRIVE

Three Pittsburgh representatives of labor, industry and finance have been asked by President Roosevelt to serve on a district "committee of seven" to advance the national re-employment drive.

The Pittsburgh district, corresponding to the Department of Commerce district, includes Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The Pittsburghers to receive telegrams from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator, last night were Ernest T. Weir, president of the National Steel Company; J. C. Chaplin, president of the Colonial Trust Company, and P. T. Fagan, district president of the United Mine Workers of America.

ACCEPT POSTS

Chaplin said:

"Anything that's for a return of prosperity, I am for it. Of course I accept."

Fagan commented:

"I have received the appointment and I will accept."

Weir, in Washington, could not be reached.

Other members are George B. Sprowls, Claysville, Pa.; Gray Silver, Martinsburg, W. Va.; Arthur Colgrove, Corry, Pa., and George L. Coyle, of Charleston, W. Va.

Their duties will be to "get every patriotic American citizen to co-operate," according to the Johnson message.

Appointment of the Pittsburgh group with 600 other leaders of the nation's business signalized the "big push" of the emergency rehabilitation.

VOLUNTEERS

All persons selected for committee membership were asked to volunteer their services.

Wilson K. Ray, manager of the Pittsburgh office of the Department of Commerce, will act as secretary to this board which will consider and advise with the National Recovery Administration on the progress of the recovery move in this district.

Former Gov. John S. Fisher, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, today announced the names of chairmen on important subcommittees of the general recovery campaign committees.

Col. Samuel Harden Church will head the group on meetings and speakers and Frank Wilbur Main and A. L. Humphreys were appointed chairmen of the publicity and finance committees, respectively.

COMMITTEES DRAFTED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Announcement of committees of business leaders who have been "drafted" by President Roosevelt to head state and district re-employing campaigns was made yesterday by the National Recovery Administration.

Forty-eight state boards, composed of nine members each, and 26 district boards, of seven members each, were selected by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Ad-Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator.

U. S. PREPARING CAMPAIGN

250,000 and should be able to absorb at least 40,000 more.

Under the modified agreement, effective at once, all units of the industries covered may apply the labor terms of their own code in place of the President's voluntary agreement, and still become eligible for the Blue Eagle insignia.

Already the bulk of the country's retail trade, employing millions, has been extended the same opportunity.

'CZAR' AT HARRISBURG

At noon today Johnson set off for Harrisburg, Pa., to deliver an address in mid-afternoon.

He used a War Department official plane just as he did on a recent dash to Detroit to get the automobile industry's code. He expects to be back late today.

Behind him he left in progress hearings on codes for the cotton garment and shirt industry, the millinery trade and cast iron soil pipe industry.

Also in progress were negotiations for adjusting terms of the steel and oil codes, while his deputies were engaged with great numbers of industrial delegations seeking quick action on agreements to bring them into the fold.

In regard to the "Buy Now" movement, Johnson said:

"The time is approaching and the signal will be merely the certainty that this plan is working—that people are back at work with a certainty this is no flash in the plan.

"When that moment comes—and I think it is almost here—I am going to supplement our present program by adding a request to all consumers that they spend for re-employment.

"The only reason we have delayed was that we didn't want to repeat the mistakes of the past.

"It would be unfair to ask people to spend until it was safe for them to do so."

Crowd Threatens Store Code Rebels

BAY CITY, Mich., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Police were called last night to disperse a crowd which had gathered in front of two food stores to protest their remaining open after the hour set for closing by local merchants adopting the National Recovery Code.

The crowd, estimated by police at 300, indicated its disapproval verbally, but moved away quietly after policemen arrived.

NRA INSIGNIA NOT LIMITED

The little fellow among employers can boast, "We do our part" along with the big employers displaying the NRA insignia, according to an announcement by Postmaster James B. Anderson today.

Pledges of co-operation in the re-employment campaign under the National Recovery Act originally were intended only for employers of three or more persons. Small employers deluged the Postoffice Department with requests that they be provided with insignia too.

Anderson announced he was instructed by Postmaster General Farley to deliver pledge cards to all who employ only one or two persons if they call at the postoffice and sign the agreement. Insignia will be delivered at the parcel post windows at the postoffice.

Anderson announced that 2,043 employers received the NRA insignia at the main postoffice and the 30 carrier stations in the Pittsburgh territory yesterday.

Philadelphia Leads In Pledges to NRA

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—This city today leads the nation in pledging observance of the President's NRA code for business and industry, according to local officials of the department of commerce.

More than 2,000 firms in Philadelphia have already turned in their pledges. Harry K. Sorenson, district manager of the department of commerce, said he had been advised from Washington that Pennsylvania leads in the percentage of employers who have made their pledges.

Roosevelt Pleased At Recovery Gait

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Asked about reports on the progress of the national recovery campaign, President Roosevelt smiled today and said they indicated the program was running a little ahead of schedule.

FISHER SCORES CODE VIOLATORS

Trade associations and industrial groups that do not accept President Roosevelt's blanket recovery code should be dealt with as "criminals" in the opinion of former Gov. John S. Fisher, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Acting as mediator yesterday for the Cleaners' and Dyers' Association with Mayor John S. Herron and Frank Harper, the chamber's manager, Fisher said:

"We must all stand by loyally—there are no exceptions. Those who object to following the President's code should be dealt with as criminals."

The arbitration committee met at the Chamber of Commerce with representatives of 74 plants, 2,500 employes and 1,500 retail shops in the cleaning and dyeing business.

All but one cleaning establishmen in the Pittsburgh district agreed to follow the new price level of the $1 minimum for dry cleaning all garments, with a 10 per cent discount for cash and carry.

Gulf and Standard Sign NRA Agreement

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The Gulf Refining Company announced today it had signed the President's re-employment agreement pending final adoption of the oil industry code.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announced that it and associated companies, including Colonial Beacon Oil Company, Standard of Louisiana and Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, had signed the blanket code.

River Yields Body Of Missing Dentist

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The body of Dr. A. Hugh Ripple, dean of the Creighton College of Dentistry at Omaha, Neb., was recovered today from the St. Lawrence River near Black Charlie's Island.

He had been missing from his Brockville cittage since Saturday.

STEEL CODE'S WORK PLAN ATTACKED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A possibility has developed that the Recovery Administration may ask the steel industry to modify its plan of averaging over a six months' period the 40-hour week proposed by its code.

With the elimination of the company union provision, this became a principal point of attack by the spokesmen for organized labor, who asserted weekly and daily maximum hours of work should be provided. They complained that the six months' average left the 12-hour day and seven-day week firmly intrenched in the industry.

RECORD ANALYZED

While the record of Monday's hearings was analyzed at Recovery Administration headquarters, the directors of the American Iron and Steel Institute held a day-long meeting at the Mayflower Hotel which they said was devoted to a general discussion of the situation.

Gerard Swope and Walter C. Teagle, of the industrial advisory board, called briefly upon Robert P. Lamont, president of the institute, who presented the code of competition at the hearings.

Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said late in the day that a period of at least five days would elapse before the recommendations of his subordinates are submitted. Then, if he decides that the code must be changed the representatives of the industry will be called back and negotiations looking toward an agreement will ensue.

METHOD DENOUNCED

Both Secretary Perkins and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in addition to termining the wages of 30 to 40 cents an hour too low and the 40-hour week too long, denounced the proposed method of making the basis of the latter a six-months' average.

Miss Perkins pleaded that the men of the steel mills be guaranteed one day's rest a week and protection against an over-long day. She asserted, too, that the plan would make for periods of much work followed by periods of little work.

One of Green's proposals received a definite veto from Administrator Johnson so far as inclusion in the code is concerned. This was that it contain provision for the workmen to vote secretly on whether they prefer to join company unions or organizations formed by themselves.

Such a proposal, Johnson said, lies outside the authority conferred upon him by the recovery law.

Johnson in Doubt On Classifying Newspapermen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator, indicated yesterday that the official ruling of his assistants that newspapermen are "professional workers," and therefore not subject to hour limits of the President's voluntary agreement, may not prove the final word on the subject.

He said this question would need further study, and also that no ultimate decision has been reached yet on how newspapers will be expected to deal with their union contracts specifying definite hour and wage levels, in complying with the agreement.

Railroad Workers To Confer on Code

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, announced today he had called a meeting of the Railway Labor Executives Association to discuss among other things a national code for railroad workers.

GENERAL FOODS JOINS NRA

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—General Foods Corporation has accepted President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement and is applying it immediately in 50 factories and sales offices, according to C. M. Chester, president.

Factory employes whose working time has been cut from 40 to 35 hours per week will, Chester said, receive the same rate of weekly pay they previously received. Employes who have been working longer than 40 hours per week are having an "equitable adjustment" in their hourly rates of pay to conform to the spirit of the agreement.

The company contemplates hiring of thousands of additional employes.

CAVANAUGH RESENTS 'SLUR'

Burgess John Cavanaugh was rather indignant today.

The Homestead political boss is far from pleased with the published reports that he pictured himself, alone, unaided and courageous, quelling a Communistic uprising during the visit to Homestead of Miss Frances Perkins, the Secretary of Labor, last Friday.

The burgess denied all denied making any statements for publication, inquired why newspapers published "a pack of lies" and, when asked what the truth was, said:

"I'm not talking."

Cavanaugh was described as the "nervous burgess" by Miss Perkins in Washington Monday in telling of how he had refused to allow her to use the borough hall for a hearing for steelworkers.

Thirsty Customer Finds Blue Eagle Isn't Brew

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 2.—Paste was hardly dry on a blue NRA eagle poster on a Liberty street restaurant window, when a perspiring customer of middle age came in today:

"Give me two bottles—and how much?"

The waiter asked:

"Two bottles of what?"

The patron answered:

"That new stuff."

He pointed to the poster. The customer got two bottles of 3.2 but not Blue Eagle.

COUNTY'S WORK PROGRAM MUDDLED

Further evidence of the muddle in which the County Commissioners find themselves in their application for federal aid for public works was seen today in the Commissioners' failure to draw up detailed plans for their proposals.

They yesterday failed to appropriate $11,640 for two months' work in drawing up plans for highway projects for which they seek $10,000,000 and failed to appropriate $33,950 for plans for $17,000,000 in self-liquidating projects.

McGovern booted the proposal out of the meeting on the ground that the county shouldn't appropriate such funds without some evidence of obtaining the federal aid.

SPEED REQUIRED

This action came in the face of announcement from Washington that the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works' immediate program will include:

"Only such projects as can be started within 30 days."

The Pennsylvania advisory board and the state engineer probably will have set up offices and be prepared to receive applications by the end of next week.

But the 30-day rule may prevent Allegheny County from obtaining its proposed $27,000,000 if two months' time is necessary before plans can be drawn up and further delay is occasioned by letting contracts.

Of this $27,000,000, $5,000,000 is sought from an outright federal grant of $18,800,000 to the state for highway projects, the balance is sought for highways and self-liquidating projects which must be approved in Washington by the federal emergency administration of public works.

JUST A GAMBLE

To the proposal by Planning Engineer E. L. Schmidt that plans for the projects be drawn up, McGovern said:

"You want us to spend this money and not have any proof that we will get the money we need for our projects.

Schmidt replied:

"I believe that we will not be considered until we have the plans completed and can state just when the work can be started. Of course it is nothing more than a gamble."

Fearful that Gov. Gifford Pinchot may take the lion's share of the $18,800,000 to Pennsylvania and use it for secondary roads in country districts, county officials are preparing to make a vigorous protest to the federal administrators appointed for this district.

Consternation was created at the Commissioners meeting yesterday when Commissioner W. I Mansfield announced that Gov. Pinchot's division of the funds indicated that Allegheny County would receive only about $500,000 and unless immediate protest were made there was little chance of getting any additional funds.

Schmidt stated that he doubted very much whether the federal administrators appointed by President Roosevelt would approve the program of Gov. Pinchot. Schmidt stated that all projects must be approved in Washington and this would be done only on recommendation of the state administrative boards.

'REGULAR' ROAD WORK

Mansfield stated that Pinchot's program included improvement of state highway route 76 through Stowe Township to the Stowe Township Bridge to Neville Island and the state highway extending from the Lebanon Church road to West Elizabeth. Schmidt declared that the Governor seemed to be using the federal funds on regular state highway work.

Commissioner C. M. Barr, addressing Schmidt, said:

"Under that arrangement we are getting only about 3 per cent. We have a fight ahead of us and must battle to the last ditch. I believe we should have some say on what work is done in this county."

Chairman C. C. McGovern interrupted and addressed Barr. He said:

"You would not doubt the good judgment of our Mr. Pinchot, would you?"

Commissioner Barr:

"I certainly would, and I want Mr. Schmidt and his men to fight this thing to a finish."

BROAD CREDIT PUSHED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—President Roosevelt wants new credit "made available to all classes of our citizens" so business may be "re-established on a permanent, workable basis."

That was the Chief Executive's request as made public last night in an address by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation.

Jones remarked that "it will take a great deal more credit to carry and handle 10-cent cotton than 5-cent cotton; $1 wheat than 40-cent wheat; 60-cent corn than 15-cent corn." That credit, he said, must be supplied by banks.

To help them furnish it through loans on "sound local values," he said the Reconstruction Corporation is prepared to increase bank capital by buying "preferred stock in sound banks, state and national, to any reasonable extent, based upon good business judgment and the use to which the institution can put the capital."

'UNLOADED' GUN BLAMED FOR DEATH AT SEA

International News Service.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 2.—The first full account of the accidental shooting of Karl Werner Heye III, of Rochester and New York, aboard the liner Bremen at sea was given to International News Service today when the vessel arrived en route to Germany.

The story was told by Capt. William Dahne, chief officer of the liner. He revealed that Charles Manger, Leland Stanford university student who shot and killed Heye while handing an automatic revolver in their stateroom, insisted he did not know the weapon was loaded.

Capt. Dahne said:

"Heye, who was 25 years old, was sharing a first-class cabin with Manger. About 3 o'clock Sunday morning, when the ship was one and a half days out from New York, Manger rushed to the bridge and said:

"'Come quickly, my friend is shot.'

"Ship's officers went to the cabin and found Heye lying on the floor, dead from a shot in the head. The ship's doctor was summoned, but pronounced Heye dead immediately."

Manger was in a distressed condition, but managed to tell what happened. He said:

"We were discussing revolvers and I produced one of Colt make, the mechanism of which I was going to show to Heye. To my horror the revolver went off, shooting my friend in the head. I thought it was not loaded."

Manger was so overcome by the tragedy that he remained in seclusion under care of the ship's physician. Passengers said that both young men appeared happy in each other's company and apparently were firm friends.

Dahne continued:

"Examination of the weapon revealed that the bullet which killed Heye was the only one in its chamber.

"The revolver was given to Manger by his grandfather. I am convinced it was a pure accident. A preliminary inquiry already has been held, but there will be an official investigation at Bremen, where the body is being taken prior to its return to New York."

Capt. Dahne stated there had been no party held in Heye's cabin prior to the shooting and that there was no suggestion of drunkenness in the case of either man.

ARSENAL BLAST KILLS SOLDIERS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A sudden, terrifying series of explosions in the Campo De Marte Arsenal last night and early today is thought to have killed or wounded 30 National Guardsmen.

Many of the 50,000 inhabitants were participating in a traditional fiesta at Santo Domingo plaza when the first detonation occurred at 11 p. m. (Pittsburgh time). Lesser blasts continued until after midnight.

Crowds of merrymakers, nearly panic-stricken, rushed through the streets. It was believed the disaster was accidental in origin, but the populace, not knowing what was happening, was thrown into a state of intense excitement at first.

Houses were shaken. Spent cartridge shells were scattered through the city, as in a bombardment. So strong was the blast that a large pistol was hurled through the roof of a house a quarter of a mile away.

BANKER'S WIFE DIES IN MYSTERY

COVE NECK, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A pet terrier, barking wildly, led last night to the discovery in a shallow lake of the body of Mrs. Samuel R. Bertron, 67-year-old society matron and wife of a millionaire banker.

The lake, located on "Overbrook," the Bertron estate, is only 4 feet deep. Physicians concluded that a heart attack overcame Mrs. Bertron on the shore of the lake and that she fell in and drowned. She had suffered previously from a heart ailment.

Mrs. Bertron had dinner last night as usual with her husband, senior member of the banking firm of Bertron, Griscom & Co., of Wall street. Afterward, as was her custom, she set out to stroll on her wide lawns with her airedale.

Neither her husband nor the servants saw her alive again after she left the house.

The men showed Erny some money of their own and began to exchange their money for his. Finally, Erny claims, they had him so confused that he didn't know what he was doing. Erny, police report, said he was to meet the men in a store a few minutes later. Then he found that the strangers had all his money.

Koreans' Arrest Protested by Japan

TOKIO, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A new source of Russo-Japanese friction was disclosed today when the foreign office instructed the Consul General at Vladivostok to obtain the release of 10 Korean fishermen held prisoners by the Soviet secret police and to protest to Soviet authorities.

An official report from Seoul, capital of Korea, said the secret police seized six Korean fishing boats in Possiet Bay. Of the 34 men in the crews, 24 were released.

WIDOW DENIES GUILT IN TRIAL FOR MURDER

husband, ruthlessly and in cold blood, for the sake of a guilty passion or the greed for money.

DENIES LOVE TRYSTS

Denying the story by Edward J. McMahon, so-called "kiss and tell" ex-policeman, of illicit trysts in her automobile, Mrs. Costello, as her own first defense witness at her trial for poisoning her husband, declared she was with him only one night and that her husband was in the car.

She had met him first while he was selling butter and eggs and not as a "pick up" at a traffic corner as McMahon had said.

She cried four times as she bared her life story, beginning her battle to escape the electric chair.

There was a long, breathless pause after the black robed judge took his seat upon the bench. A breathless pause while the packed courtroom waited for their first word direct from the woman who has sat silent for days and listened to others tell the story of those last moments of Bill Costello's life and of the things that happened afterwards.

TELLS OWN STORY

Then Jessie Costello, martyr or murderess, walked across the courtroom and faced a jury of her peers to tell at last her own story—her own story of her husband's death, her own story of her relations with Policeman McMahon, who swore he was her lover.

She wore black, a widow's black, with a touch of white at the throat. Her great dark eyes, set with the slightest tilt at the corners, were desperately alive.

The face is a mass of strange contradictions, the delicate aristocratic litle nose, the heavy black brows that almost meet above it—the wide mouth that sets in a hard line, and swiftly changes to one of the loveliest smiles I have ever seen.

She was not afraid. And only the long, tortured breaths that were like the hot breaths an exhausted athlete draws, showed the torment of her spirit.

Her hands, large capable hands, hands which it is easy to see doing all the housework of that small home, holding babies comfortably, cooking, carrying food down to the firehouse, do not seem to belong with the rest of her. They are peasant hands. Her face is the face of an aristocrat.

PLAY OF EMOTIONS

We followed her—and the play of emotions upon that dark young face made it so easy—through grammar school, into the bakery where she sold pies and cakes, into the shop where she sold corsets.

And then suddenly we stopped with her beside—Bill Costello and saw that first meeting. She smiled then, at the memory. Do murderesses smile at the memory of a first meeting with the victim whom they have slain? I do not know. But Jessie Costello smiled as she told us how with a poppy in her hand, a little red silk poppy that she was selling for the American Legion, she walked into the firehouse and was introduced to Bill Costello and pinned that poppy upon his uniform coat.

Imposible then, not to remember too, the dead body of Bill Costello, twisted in agony and to wonder in horrified amazement if the girl who brought him that poppy also handed him that deadly poison.

FOUR CHILDREN

Four children she bore him—raised for him. On a salary of $35 to $38 a week. It isn't much and she did it for years—and took care of his old father, and even when she was expecting a child carried him his meals, and took her children to school, and belonged to a community association and raised $4,000 for the unemployed—when she had time to spare.

It wasn't the setting for a murderess.

And yet—and yet—

The woman has a terrific force. You can see that she didn't grow old and lazy and tired of life in the long, lean hard years. She loves life tremendously. A woman capable of a great passion, of great love, great hate. There was a moment when McMahon's name was mentioned when a look of almost murderous hatred flashed in her dark eyes.

And then, swift as summer lightning, the tears that would not be held back at the mention of the dead child, at the memory of his father. "My Bill" kneeling before the little crucifix he had taken from the child's casket and before which he prayed every morning.

SWEAR FALSELY

Does a woman swear falsely in the same breath with the thought of a little grave out in the cemetery where lies a child that once lay beneath her heart?

Does a woman who has cared for her family as Jessie Costello did bring her lover into the same house that shelters her children?

I don't know.

But if Jessie Costello killed her husband she did all those things.

I have only seen her upon the witness stand for a few hours. But I will tell you this—and I have seen many witnesses upon the stand in murder trials.

There is a force in this woman, a passion for living, that might be capable of murder. But unless I am wrong, or very wrong in my judgement, Jessie Costello is too smart to have committed so stupid, so useless a murder as this one.

When we have heard the rest of her story, seen her under the lash of cross-examination, it would be easier to tell.

MOLLISONS FLY WITH AMELIA TO SHORE

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 2.—The flying Mollisons—Capt. Jim and Amy—hopped from Newark Airport for Atlantic City at noon today with a group of celebrities who were the guests of Amelia Earhart Putnam, famous aviatrix, on a flying-luncheon-swimming party.

Two 15-passenger transport planes carried the party of 23 to the shore resort where they plan to spend the day in the surf.

Mrs. Mollison, the former Amy Johnson, said she was looking forward to "one of your famous shore dinners."

The party will return this evening.

Capt. Mollison was taken ill last night while attending a dinner given for himself and his wife by the Federation of Scottish Societies, but he recovered today in time to hop for Amelia's party at the shore.

He left the dinner suddenly and later it was announced he had a temperature of 102. Doctors said his illness was due to a serum which was given him after he sustained cuts when the Mollisons' plane crashed near the New York goal of their flight from Wales. The serum was administered to prevent tetanus.

It was testified the place was raided on a complaint sent to the District Attorney's office and relayed to the office of Public Safety Director Harmar D. Denny, Jr.

Divorced Viscount Will Marry Widow

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Notice was given today of the forthcoming marriage of Viscount Furness, British shipping magnate, to Mrs. Enid Cavendish, 39, the widow of Brig. Gen. F. H. Cavendish.

A decree nisi divorcing Viscount Furness and his first wife, the daughter of the late Harry Hays Morgan, of New York, was made absolute last Monday.

Johnstown Flood Rebuilder Dead

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—William V. Hughes, 88, vice president and one of the founders of the Altoona Trust Company and a building contractor, died at Hollidaysburg last night.

He built the Broad Street Station in Philadelphia for the Pennsylvania Railroad and re-constructed some 300 homes and a number of steel plants destroyed in the Johnstown flood.

WOMAN BARES 5-YEAR KILLING

CROSSVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Sheriff Baxter Swicegood said today that deputies uncovered the body of James Copeland, 19, of Canton, O., after Mrs. Otto Warner reported that her stepfather and another man killed the youth five years ago.

Sheriff Swicegood said Mrs. Warner reported the alleged slaying in retaliation for being beaten by the stepfather, W. M. Wilder, who lives near where the body was found 18 miles from here.

Wilder and William Burgess, said by the sheriff to live near Twin Falls, Idaho, were charged with murder in warrants sworn to by the county coroner. Wilder, thought to be hiding in the hills, was being sought.

Wilder was at work at Canton when he decided to return home and purchased an automobile, the sheriff quoted Mrs. Warner as telling deputies. Copeland was employed to drive the machine.

After the arrival here "Copeland had a falling-out with Wilder and Burgess and the shooting followed," Sheriff Swicegood said.

LOUISIANA ENDS MARTIAL LAW

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Adjt. Gen. Ray H. Fleming announced early today that Gov. O. K. Allen had rescinded orders of martial law issued to "protect" the Orleans parish grand jury in a clash over investigation of charges of fraud in passage of constitutional amendments at last November's general election.

The situation, marked by strong feeling for and against Senator Huey P. Long whose faction supported the amendments, meanwhile neared a crisis as the grand jurors prepared to report before Judge Frank T. Echezabal's section of Criminal District Court and the District Attorney made ready to proceed with his investigation of ballot boxes in Judge Alexander C. O'Donnell's section.

TROTZKY PLEA DENIED BY RUSS

PARIS, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky was reported today to have failed in a desperate effort to get the Soviet Foreign Commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, to help him return to Moscow.

The exiled Russian revolutionary, who is sojourning with Mme Trotzky near Royat, France, was said to have sent representatives to the Commissar at Royat, asking Litvinoff to intercede in Trotzky's behalf.

Litvinoff, reports said, refused to help him.

Trotzky, whose home is on Prinkipo Island, left Istanbul July 18 for Marseilles to undergo medical treatment for his ailing heart.

A few days ago French and Spanish reports said he might be reconciled with Moscow and be named Soviet Ambassador to Spain, but these rumors were officially denied in the Russian capital.

PRISONER GOES HOME FOR CASH

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg was mystified in Central Police Court today when Harry B. Fine, 37, of Toronto, arrested yesterday on request of the Better Business Bureau, failed to appear for a hearing.

Investigation disclosed that City Detective John Dean, who had arrested Fine, asked that he be released last night on his own recognizance, saying he was a shell-shocked war veteran and confinement in a cell might prove injurious. This was done by Detective Capt. Howard Forner.

Today Dean said he understood Fine had returned to Toronto to obtain funds to take out a city license to operate an employment agency for singers and musicians. He had been arrested for failure to have such a permit.

COUNTY'S RIGHT TO COMBINE TAX TESTED

Legality of combining the poll tax with the county personal property tax assessments was questioned today in a test case instituted by Congressman Henry Ellenbogen on behalf of Alan G. Weil, 401 Winton street.

Winton's personal property tax totals 62 cents in addition to his 50 cents poll tax.

A mandamus against the Board of County Commissioners, the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and County Treasurer Robert S. Cain, restraining them from combining the two taxes was asked by Ellenbogen before Common Pleas Judge Elder W. Marshall.

Judge Marshall pulled a $1 bill from his pocket and offered it to Ellenbogen with the remark:

"Here, if you haven't the money to pay for it, I'll lend it to you. It will be cheaper than going ahead with this case."

The attorney laughed and explained the suit is a test case on the ground that his client is being deprived of his rights as an elector by the alleged refusal of the Commisisoners, the Assessment Board and the Treasurer's office to separate the two tax assessments.

BOY, 14, HANGED AS VILLAIN IN 'KID' SHOW

International News Service.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 2.—The blotter at Oswego police headquarters tells the tragic story in these plain words:

"He pretended he was dead. His feet slipped out from under him and the audience thought he was pretending he was dead. Frank Brietbeck then said, 'When I say the magic words he will come to life again.' The boys then were scared and Charles Miller cut the rope and the body dropped to the floor."

So died Joseph Connolly, 14, son of Mrs. Catherine Connolly, an Oswego High School student, playing in reality the role that was his in a show put on by his neighborhood playmates in a garage in the rear of the home of George Brietbeck.

PLAYER VILLAIN

Young Connolly was the villain of the play. He was supposed to pay for his misdeeds with his life. That was the role he was slated to play. Just a role in a kids' play in Brietbeck's garage.

On with the show.

It is the hanging scene.

The villain is brought forth to "die." He himself arranges the rope which, in mimic fashion, is to strangle him. He fastens it to a beam. Then he loops a hangman's noose in the other hand. He places it about his neck, being careful to place a piece of cloth between the coarse rope and his skin to prevent it from chafing him.

AUDIENCE APPLAUDS

For this is just a play drama and the villain doesn't die, he's only supposed to. Then, after the curtain goes down, he's alive and well again just the same as ever.

The villain slumps to his knees. It is the climax of the show. The audience applauds. It is a fine piece of acting. The curtain descends.

But Joe Connolly doesn't get up. His companions cut the rope with a piece of broken milk bottle. He doesn't say anything. He is dead.

Junior Patrol Holds First Annual Picnic

A thousand children wearing the badge of the Sun-Telegrajh Junior Patrol enjoyed National Kiddies Day and the first annual Junior Patrol picnic at West View Park yesterday.

Almost all of the children were armed with a plentiful supply of free tickets, provided by the Sun-Telegraph in exchange for free coupons. The roller coasters started carrying capacity loads of happy kids in the morning, and other rides got their share of patronage too.

A little show, with singers and players from the Sun-Telegraph Junior Patrol radio program, and Spike, Snuggins, Perce, Claire, and Bill in the cast, was the feature of the afternoon. Once again, Snuggins told everybody how well he liked ice cream.

Most of the children were accompanied by their parents or by older friends, and many families enjoyed lunch and dinner in the shady spots of the picnic grove.

THREE ACCUSED IN PEN BOLT KILLING 2

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Warrants charging three men with slaying a deputy sheriff and his prisoner, were issued today as officers prepared to seek extradition of two suspects held in New Rochelle, N. Y.

The warrants name Leo Frazier, of Charleston; Charles Harper, of Huntington, and Henry Cano, of Charleston.

They are charged with slaying Deputy Roy Shamblin, of Kanawha County, and his prisoner, Ralph Harper, 19, of Huntington, in what officers said was a bold attempt to free Harper from officers transporting him to the penitentiary to serve a 25 year sentence for robbery.

Cano has been held in the Kanawha County Jail without charges since a day after the slayings, last Tuesday. Two men identified as Grazier and Harper, the latter a brother of the slain prisoner, were arrested today in New Rochelle.

J. Blackburn Watts, prosecuting attorney of Kanawha County, said he would accompany officers to New York tomorrow with a request from Gov. Kump for extradition of Harper and Frazier, who also are charged in federal warrants with the theft in Richmond of an automobile used by four gunmen in their running gun battle with officers.

Shamblin was killed by shots poured into his car just across the county line in Jackson County. Harper was wounded and an hour later his body was found in an automobile abandoned near his home in Huntington.

Fatal Quarry Blast Blamed On Static

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A dynamite explosion, which witnesses said may have been caused by static in the air, killed one man and injured three others in the quarries of the Washington Building Lime Company at Bakerton late yesterday.

Employes said the blast was set off prematurely, possibly by an approaching storm or by a bolt of lightning.

Roosevelt Happy As Youngster With Auto

HYDE PARK, Aug. 2.—(Universal.)—President Roosevelt is as happy as a youngster with a new toy, despite this heat.

He is having a rare time operating a new automobile, equipped with hand controls, for him to drive.

He went riding yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt. Although he was headed for the swimming pool at the "cottage," which is on the grounds of his estate, he could not resist the temptation to go for a spin up and down the Albany post road. Secret service men in the car behind were much happier when he turned back.

GOES MAD, DIES IN HURRICANE

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—A tale of horror culminating when his companion went mad, slashed his throat and leaped into the sea was told in jerky monosylables yesterday by Jack Davis, of Kissimmee, Fla., rescued in a frail craft that had been drifting aimlessly for 10 days.

Davis, too weak to give a coherent recital of events ending in the tragedy of his pal, Bill Bell, also of Kissimmee, was rushed to a hospital.

A friendly wind that blew his small 20-foot craft into the shelter of Padre Island, 25 miles south of Port Aransas, where Coast Guardsmen discovered his plight, saved Davis' life.

Leaving Kissimmee on July 12, the young men were caught several days later in a terrific hurricane. It washed all their food and water overboard, and they escaped drowning only to find themselves subjected to the tortures of a scorching sun which beat down upon them for many days after the storm subsided.

DOCTOR

It is not often that you need a doctor. From month to month life runs smoothly. The telephone you may give little thought to quietly brings its news and runs its daily errands. • Suddenly—sickness—perhaps at night! A feverish child—a fall—gripping pain! Only speed and a doctor's skill may then avert tragedy. Then, if never before, you NEED a telephone in your home!

You can have a telephone in your home for less than 10 cents a day. It is far better to have one and "not need it" than to need a telephone in an emergency and not have it!

"Get around every car on the road without effort."
"Not a cent for repairs in 29,000 miles."
"Smooth as a greyhound over a fence."

That's the sort of thing they're saying. Ask them, and they'll tell you.

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By ELSIE ROBINSON

There Are Ways to Prevent Living a Dull Life

Are you sorry for yourself?

Do you believe that fate has it in for you and you're the world's worst martyr?

That's Linda's moan. And she's moaning plenty.

Has she any real troubles? Is she hungry? Old? Homely? Ill? No. It's none of those things. It's—

But we'll let her tell that.

Dear Elsie Robinson:

I wonder if you can help me. I seem to have lost interest in everything, and I am so unhappy that I don't know how I can keep on living.

I am just so disgusted that I don't know what to do with myself. I have plenty to eat and wear, and I'm not bad-looking, but—well, I don't know why, but everything seems to be wrong. I go to work every day, and home every night to eat dinner, maybe go to a dull movie and then to bed for sleep, so I can get up next morning and go through the whole performance again!

I work hard, but don't seem to get anywhere. I try to find something to be interested in, but I can't. I know a lot of people, but I know they don't appreciate me for what I really am. I feel that I could do big things if I just had a little encouragement, but I don't have it. I just go around in a sort of glum daze.

ENVIES OTHER PEOPLE

Nobody really loves me. I am just like a cog in a machine. I pound on my typewriter day after day and wonder what it is all about, anyway. I go out and buy a new dress and think "what's the use?"

I see other people enjoying themselves and envy them. I wonder how they can laugh and look so cheerful. I do the same things they do and nothing seems worth while.

Please help me. I can't go on like this. I am 28, and I am appalled when I see the years stretching out before me, one just as dull as the other.

I have often thought that if someone would just love me, it would give me something to live for, but I know no one does. What can I do to get out of this terrible slump? LINDA.

WAY TO HAPPINESS

What'll you do?

Take yourself by the neck, sister, and give yourself a good shake! Then hustle out and do something for somebody who is worse off than you are! You won't have any trouble finding such a human. There are thousands of them—wanting, needing the cheer you can give!

"But that won't help me!" you cry. Oh, yes, it will!

It'll help you—because you're suffering from too much Linda!

You haven't ever really looked at the world and the people in it and wondered what made them tick! You've never wondered what other people wanted, needed, hungered for. You've been too busy looking at Linda. You've looked at Linda until you're bored to death with yourself.

What is there to live for? Life! The grandest, the fightin'est, the thrillingest adventure in the universe! But it has to be lived for and with others! You can't think of yourself, live for yourself, without being a pain-in-the-neck to yourself—and everyone else.

So get going! Loosen up and get human! Give to life and life'll give to you!

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Good Teeth

I am often asked, "What is a good toothbrush?" The wise choice of a toothbrush is essential to the proper care of the teeth.

Brushes vary in size and shape. Some prefer a soft brush, but probably it is better to use one having stiff bristles. Choose a well-made brush that is not too large. A cheap one quickly sheds its bristles, and those that don't fall out become soft.

Dr. Copeland

As I have talked with them, most dentists advise the use of a medium-sized brush with fairly stiff bristles. See that the bristles are tufted and have spaces between them. For children, of course, a small-sized brush is recommended. The size of the toothbrush should be suited to the size of the mouth.

A very good plan, as I view it, is proposed by some of the dental profession; this is to employ two toothbrushes. One is used in the morning and the other in the evening. You will get the most out of the toothbrush if you follow this plan. But above all also, discard a toothbrush when the bristles begin to fall out and become matted.

The value of good teeth in the maintenance of health cannot be overemphasized. Teeth that harbor germs are related to diseases in various parts of the body. Diseased teeth undermine the general health and lower the resistance of the body against infections. It has been repeatedly shown that infections of the nose, eye, sinuses, stomach and even the intestinal tract can be traced to infected teeth. Arthritis, neuritis, heart and kidney disease are other afflictions of modern civilization traced to neglected and decayed teeth.

In addition to daily brushing of the teeth, regular visits to the dentist are imperative. Baby teeth should receive the same dental care that is advised for adults.

I cannot speak too strongly about the need of proper dental attention for children who are cutting their "six-year molars."

Not so long ago I told you about the importance of the diet in building strong and sturdy teeth. It was pointed out that milk, green leafy vegetables and fresh fruits contain important substances that prevent the decay of teeth. Foods that are rich in minerals preserve the strength of the teeth. Lime and phosphorus are minerals particularly needed in the diet.

Answers to Health Queries

C. N. Q.—I seem to be in perfect health with the exception of a catarrhal condition in the throat. Occasionally when I clear my throat there is a small speck of blood to be seen—should this have immediate attention?

A.—Clear up the catarrhal condition first of all. Have examination if the blood continues. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

That facial treatment must be continued indefinitely else the complexion will fall into a state of depression and collapse is nothing more than an old time superstition. Nuthin' to it! Methods of facial treatment vary, yet they all work for the same results, cleansing the skin thoroughly, stimulating glands and blood streams, urging the skin to function normally and to throw off epidermal debris.

It isn't adipose upholstery that causes the prominent tummy so much as slack muscles caused by poor posture. Get the kinks out of the old back bone, carry it tall; abdominal muscles will tighten up and flatten. Stand erect, hands on hips, take a deep breath, pull in the lower part of the torso. In that position walk back and forth for three or four minutes. Stand erect, touch the floor without bending the knees 20 times.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Anticipating Time

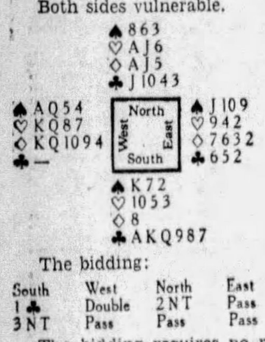
The good Bridge player realizes instinctively the large part played by the time factor in the success or defeat of a contract at the Bridge table. Squeezes, including the Vienna Coup, are based entirely upon the time factor. In hands played at a suit contract, the time factor usually dictates to defensive players that they at once cash their tricks in order to avoid the discard of losing cards held by the Declarer, in one hand or the other, on established low-card tricks.

An unusual and brilliant example of defensive play, involving the application of the time factor to a difficult situation, came to me recently from Mr. Ivar Andersson, of Stockholm, Sweden, who played the West hand below. The other players, all well known in Sweden, were Messrs. J. Beugtsson, L. Westoe and M. Wilander.

South, Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | Double | 2 NT | Pass |
| 3 NT | Pass | Pass | Pass |

The bidding requires no particular comment, and as it required a very brilliant play to defeat the contract of three no-trump, that contract cannot be said to have been a bad one.

In view of West's Takeout Double, East opened the spade Knave, counting on West for strength in the majors, and more especially spades. A low spade was played from Dummy, and the Knave held the trick. East followed with the spade Ten, and the King was played from Dummy, West, Mr. Andersson, winning with the Ace. Mr. Andersson now laid down the Queen of spades, establishing the five as a "thirteener."

The usual play at this point would have been to cash that trick and then rely on the two King-Queen combinations to account for at least one more trick, and thus the defeat of the contract.

Mr. Andersson, however, looked deeper. Owing to the two-notrump bid by North, he mentally placed the missing Aces in the hand of North, and possibly the Knaves of the red suits as well. If this were true, then to cash the last spade would be to prepare a squeeze against himself, so, instead of taking his fourth trick, he now led the diamond King, removing one line of communication between the closed and open hands. Obviously, if North is to make his contract, he must win this trick. He did, and continued with six rounds of clubs, upon which Mr. Andersson discarded three diamonds, two hearts and his established spade. North, regardless of the cards he held or discarded, could not then make his contract. His only re-entry to his own hand was the heart Ace, and, after winning this, he could not prevent West from taking the last 2 tricks.

The reader will note that had Mr. Andersson won the fourth spade, then, regardless of his subsequent play, an absolute squeeze would have been developed against him.

Today's Question

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 ♠ | 2 ♣ |
| 2 ◇ | 3 ♣ | 3 ♠ | Pass |
| 4 ♠ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

You, East, hold:

♠ A ♡ Q 7 4 ◇ 8 7 2 ♣ K Q J 8 6 5

What do you lead?

Answer—The heart 4. The bidding on this hand should be very illuminating to the astute player. East, on his partner's vulnerable Raise of his clubs, is fairly certain that one of the opponents has a singleton club, and knows that if his partner has the club Ace, this trick can always be taken. He realizes that, to defeat the contract of four spades, some tricks must be set up while he still holds the Ace of trumps as an entry-card or while his partner still has a possible diamond stopper. His only hope of establishing the setting tricks is in hearts, and they must be tackled immediately, before the opponents can set up possible discards. This lead is a good example of appreciating the importance of the time factor, which is temporarily in favor of the defense as long as they make the most of their Opening lead.

Given in Marriage

A Sequel to Heart Of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Capitulates Before Noel's Ardent Plea

"Yes, I'll tell you what was the nice little piece in the paper that Mrs. Underwood showed me," Noel said, and his clipped words were like hailstones. "It was a Paris letter, and in it I found the real reason why my father wants you to go to Paris for a year."

Noel looked at her sharply.

"Didn't you see that paper? Don't you know what was in it?"

Mary wrinkled her nose at him.

"Immaterial, irrelevant, incompetent and all the rest of it," she said. "How do I know whether I saw what you did, until you tell me this 'real reason' you're raving about? Come on! Don't hold out on me any longer!"

"You do know," Noel said with conviction. "But I don't care, I'll tell you anyway. That letter said that King Georges as coming incognito to Paris, and that there were rumors his marriage to Olina had been broken off. My father must have known it before—and that's the reason he wants to separate us. But you know that already, don't you?"

DEMANDS MARRIAGE

"Yes, I read the same piece you did," Mary said. "Nice little scheme your dad cooked up! I suppose he thinks I'd be sap enough to run around with Georges, and set tongues clacking, and then you'd be so disgusted you'd toss me out on my ear and tie up with Olina. But what I want to know is the dope Mrs. Underwood handed you. Did she scare you into thinking I'd be a 'roo-ined' woman if you didn't keep me from going to Paris?"

"She did not!" Noel exploded, if not truthfully, at least convincingly. "She simply wanted me to see the clipping. Do you think I needed her explanation, or anybody's in the world after reading it? Knowing my father, his whole scheme was as plain as day. And if you think I'm going to let you get within a thousand miles of Georges, without I'm right beside you to knock his block off if he looks at you—well, you'd better think again!

"You're going to marry me just as soon as I can get you to the city hall. Once I have you safe, then I can think sanely, if we go over and happen to meet Georges. I haven't anything against him except that I'm sure he's never forgotten you. But he'll have to, from now on—" tensely—"Will he? You haven't told me yet how you feel about all this?"

"You haven't given me a chance," Mary said demurely. "I never in all my life saw anybody act or talk as crazily as you have since you blew in here."

"That's enough," Noel retorted grimly. "You're not going to stall any more. You know as well as I do that Georges only has to see you again to go goofy about you again, but he's never going to set eyes on you unless I'm holding you with both hands. Just remember that! But all this is beside the point. Are you going to marry me peaceably, or am I going to drag you to the altar by the hair?"

MADGE CONSENTS

I wanted to sit up and clap my hands and call out "Bravo!" This was a new Noel.

"I don't know," Mary's words were evasive, and her apparently shy glance at me was equally elusive. But the lilt in her voice was enough to satisfy any lover, while I heard in it a satisfied note, which told me that Noel had "passed" her secret requirements.

"Yes, you do." Noel's voice was suddenly jubilant, and, releasing his grip of her shoulders, he put an arm around her and pulled her a step closer to him.

"We're going to ask your auntie for her permission. Then we'll be within my father's stipulation. And when she gives it—"

"If she gives it, you mean,"

Household Hints

If you have a darn just above the heel of your shoe top, sew a small seam at the bottom of the heel of the stocking. It will bring the darn further down and hide it in the shoe.

Be certain to wipe out the ridges of the tin lid or saucepan so that no water lingers there to rust after it is put away. Both tin and iron articles must be thoroughly dry before putting them away or the old rust problem comes up each time.

A pinch of baking soda added to the water in which you are boiling meats, particularly meats you have bought in an economical frame of mind and which are good but not so tender as the choice cuts, will add to their tenderness.

When you have so much to do you do not know where to start, just sit down quietly for a minute with the morning paper. You will find your tasks all in an orderly row after a few minutes of relaxation and just common-sense thinking.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Restaurant Dining

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—After the theater, when a boy takes a girl to an inn or cafe to eat, should the couple walk right in and sit at the table they like or should they wait until the waiter takes them to the table?

2—When ordering the meal, should the boy say, "Order what you want, Mary" and should she give her order to the waiter, or should she tell the boy what she wants and then should he give both orders to the waiter, or what is the right way? READER.

1—They should wait until the headwaiter comes to show them to a table. The man may, should, consult with the headwaiter about the situation of the table he would like, if possible to have. But, since assigning tables is the function of the headwaiter, the man courteously and naturally, respects this fact and co-operates with it.

2—The girl doesn't give her order directly to the waiter. . . even if she is with a man who doesn't know that she shouldn't. She should tell her order to the man with whom she is lunching or dining, and he gives both orders to the waiter. If the orders vary, he is careful to name her order first. The man is the host, and giving the orders to the waiter is an important part of his gesture of hospitality.

There are many men who don't realize that the girl should not give her order to the waiter. But it is very easy for the girl to overcome this. She looks only at him as she tells her order. . . "May I have . . ." doesn't look at the waiter at all, and there is nothing for the man to do but to give her order as well as his to the waiter. And he'll like doing it . . . he'll see it's being a "masterful host," and men admire women who let them be just that.

If you were dining in a home you would ask your hostess for anything you want . . . you wouldn't ask the waitress directly. The same thing applies to your hostess or host in a restaurant.

Walter Winchell ON BROADWAY

During Walter Winchell's two weeks' holiday, his column will be written by celebrated friends.

By Mrs. James J. Walker
(Betty Compton)

Not so many years ago a small group of men gathered in what was then a back room of Billy La Hiff's Tavern on 48th St. The purpose was to toast, not to roast, Walter Winchell as he embarked on his newspaper career as a dramatic critic. (You see he started his career as a critic in a gentle and limited way.)

No one present at that time thought he would develop into the world's loudest loud-speaker. Among those present that night was Senator Jimmy Walker, gabby as usual, who at the appointed time arose in his place and reaching for his handkerchief characteristically with his left hand, said: "Walter, as a dramatic critic and knowing every manager, actor and playwright in this town, who will naturally expect undeserved boosts, you must make your choice. You can keep your friends and be a failure—or lose them and be a success."

As time went on, Walter did not attain the maximum of unpopularity as a dramatic critic fast enough to suit him, so he invented a new form of social dissertation, psycho-analysis, X-ray, mental telepathy and prognostication, which means to you and you, the lowdown on what is and what will be.

But back to the plot. Walter is again worn out from reaching in and needs a vacation. So he wrote to Jim asking him to contribute one day of rest for old time's sake. Jim agreed to come out of the retirement he longed for, but has been denied by so many copy makers, and it was the same old Walker with the same old "Who could say no?" Of course there are a great many, because of Walter's scallions, who would not only agree to give him a day's holiday but would be glad to give him a one-way ticket and a four-year course in Old Hitlerberg.

Shortly after this, Mr. Joe Connolly, of International News Service, signed Jim on the dotted line to become a reporter, and cover the World's Economic Conference. So he packed those 83 trunks, which he never owned, and we started for London.

Here was a difficulty. Jim's promise to Walter versus Connolly's contract for his exclusive services. So while I sat surrounded by fashion magazines, racking my brain to learn what the well-dressed conference widow should wear, some genius struck the oil of compromise to spread on the troubled waters by deciding that the little wife must take her typewriter in hand, and do a little pinch-hitting for the Old Man. My first reaction was fear and apprehension, but my after thought was: "What care I if I have the opportunity of harpooning a few of the sharks I know. For how does a King for a Day compare with a Winchell for a day?" However, I decided there were so many I owed socks to, they could not be crowded into one day's column, and after all life's too short—so let's go.

Victor McLaglen is Piccadilly's present spot-grabber. He refuses to make his entrance without the well-known white light.

Lewis Milestone and Lawrence Stallings arrived in London to confer with Harry Cohen regarding the very promising Russian picture, which they purpose making partially in Moscow and partially in Hollywood. While in the middle of their Conference, Old Doc Milestone was called out on a death-bed case to Gilbert Miller's picture with Leslie Howard. It looked like the dear old cinema was on the rocks and required someone that could make it all right on the Western Front.

Prince George is a popular song fan, and his favorite songsters are Chic Endor and Charlie Farrell, who, by the way, are livin on an old English estate these days—and no couverts.

Captivating Constance (Connecticut Yankee) Carpenter who married Ord Hamilton, composer of "Blase," is frappee. I suppose someone's stole his piano, and that was that.

A matter that should have been taken up in the International Conference was the British Dominion's picture, "The Queen." The Company imported Jeanette MacDonald, Herbert Marshall, Sam Taylor, Arthur Schwartz, and an entire unit including camera men and cutters on cut-rate excursion tickets but forgot that MacDonald, Marshall, et al., had to be back in Hollywood on a certain date. They fiddled around so long, they got going with the picture the day before the troupers had to return to Hollywood. The little delay just cost the film company $150,000, representing ten weeks salary, and all the producers got for it was a few songs. Jim says he remembers the time when you could buy the whole Tin-Pan Alley for that.

It looks as if Fearless Blumey has fallen out of the frying-pan into the Furness.

A letter was received the other day at the Economic Conference addressed to Governor Cox, Zoological Museum. Someone must have been peeking.

Ramsay MacDonald doing a buck dance would have been no more surprise to London than hearing Mary Ellis sing in "Music in the Air." They thought she was a 'eavy 'igh-brow actress.

A little George Bernard Shaw tid-bit thrown in with tea at his home. "There are a lot of people on the dole who never worked or never saw their parents work."

Adele Astaire just magazined some nasty cracks about American hostesses abroad and the way American men dress. The crust of English society seems difficult for the little gal from Omaha to digest, and her memory has evidently broken down with the weight of the castles in her hair. So different is the case of another well-known American sojourning in London, Mrs. Harry Brown of Pittsburgh, who is persona grata with everybody and who does not pan her native land to make an impression.

eal political "who's who" and "what's what" is ever publishe hat a lot of bags will be packed.

Gilbert Works Without Pay As Aid

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—All Hollywood knows that Jack Gilbert wants to become a director. It has not heard until now, however, that he plans to get some practical experience by acting as honorary assistant to Kenneth Mackenna on "Walls of Gold."

Paid $1,000,000 on his last contract at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Jack serves on his new job without pay.

He sits in with MacKenna on the preparation of the script, he reports on the set and watches the picture made step by step. By doing this, he hopes to get the director's slant in a way that was never possible when he worked before the camera.

Mr. Gilbert

The scene of Jack's novel apprenticeship will be the Fox Western Avenue studio—the same lot where he won his first success in "The Count of Monte Cristo," "Cameo Kirby" and other silent films.

Sign that the depression is over. An ambitious Beverly Hills real estate man cabled all the way to Venice to ask the Benn W. Levys (Constance Cummings) what kind of a house they will want when they come to Hollywood early this month.

Edmund Lowe is going to New York, but the gossips needn't try to interpret it as a separation from Lilyan Tashman. He's to do three weeks' personal appearances. Lilyan hopes to join him later in Chicago, so they can see the fair together . . . Unlike other film star ranch owners, Katharine Hepburn can't commute to the studio. Her newly acquired property is in Jackson, Col. . . . When you don't like anything in London, reports Sally Eilers, you refer to it as "a crashing bore."

Maurice Chevalier intends to return to France just as soon as he completes his current picture, "The Way to Love," which is being made in two versions, English and French, the latter with Jacqueline Francelle as leading woman. She was brought over from France for the picture, and is said to bear a striking resemblance to Yvonne Valle, the former Mme. Chevalier. It is said that Maurice will not renew his contract with Paramount, having an idea that an entire change of scenery will do him good. He wants new type roles, new direction, new stories. He may make a picture abroad, too.

By Mark Hellinger

The Clean-Up

YOU'LL HAVE to forgive me once again if I present my story for today not as an original, but as one that was unfolded to me over the dinner table the other night. If you haven't heard it, it's a honey. And if you have—well, it will serve to refresh your memory. So I don't see how anyone can lose.

I should really have created this yarn because it's a typical Hellinger. In other words, it's long—and it's definitely daffy. But it does deal with a situation that I have never before seen in print. And if you think that isn't unusual, you don't know your columns.

Ready for it? Okay. Step right up and meet Bill Kaker, race track character and bookmaker for many a long year. Bill ate, slept and drank horses. The ponies were the only thing for which he lived.

He could name instantly the winner of any derby for the past twenty years, and he could tell you the handle of a nag's granddaddy by the way the pony rolled its eyes. If there was anything that Bill Baker didn't know about horses, it hadn't been written yet.

Very early in life, however, someone must have stolen Bill's rattle or bib. Because Bill was inclined to be very, very suspicious. He trusted no one but himself, and even then he often kept his right hand behind his back while he counted dough with his left.

Each night, after the day's races were over, Bill would call his runners and his bookkeeper into his room. Every bet of the day—from the smallest to the largest—was carefully checked. It wasn't that Bill didn't trust his assistants; he was just a trifle careful. Yes, indeed.

Each winter, you would find him at Hialeah, New Orleans or Agua Caliente. And every summer, he and his retinue operated at Belmont, Empire City and Saratoga. In every one of those spots, his cold, chilly face was to be found. He would take bets of all sizes, regardless of whether you had $5,000 or $5. And his odds were always shaded so that, in the end, Bill Baker at least had carefare home.

Why, when and how it happened, I do not know. But, at the age of 45, Bill Baker went daffy. And quicker than he had ever laid four-to-five on a legitimate three-to-one shot, our friend wound up in an asylum.

Not that he was a violent case, you understand. He didn't go around posing as a columnist or smacking babies on the dome. And neither did he attempt to catch any fish off City Island. He simply began to make strange statements and hand out a little money without checking it carefully. His friends grew worried and had him examined. And the nut house was the result.

I'm happy to be able to report that Bill wasn't particularly worried about his surroundings. The food was fair enough, and nobody seemed to bother him particularly. As a matter of fact, it was something of a vacation for him.

There was but one bad feature about the joint. And that was the fact that he couldn't make book on the horses. After all those years of daily routine, he found it difficult to step out of the game.

He looked around him and, seeing so many crazy people all over the place, he figured that there must certainly be some horse players among them. So he hit upon a brilliant idea.

Stopping one of the doctors one morning, he spoke to him about it.

"Doc," he said, "you know that I am not crazy. I'm probably the only one around here who isn't, but that makes no difference. What I want to know is if there will be any objection if I make book for some of the boys?

"I'll cause no trouble. You have my word for that. But I didn't want to do anything without first getting permission. Will it be all right with you?"

The doctor nodded gravely.

"You go just as far as you want, Mr. Baker," he returned. "I'm certain that the boys will be happy to co-operate with you and I can't see the least bit of harm in the idea. So you go right ahead and make your book. And I certainly wish you the best of luck."

So Bill went to work immediately. He inquired around and, in less than two hours, he had dug up five horse players. And was he happy! He was back in his element again, and from now on nothing was going to stop him from having the best time of his life.

Neither Bill nor the players, of course, had any money with which to bet. And that, as some of us have found out, is a rather important item around the horses. But Bill solved that problem in short order. They weren't going to stop him.

He gathered up a few hundred little white pebbles. And to each player he gave a certain number. Furthermore, in order to stop the players from getting any funny notions about going broke and ringing in extra pebbles, he painted his stones red. They weren't going to cheat him!

Then began happy days for the former bookmaker. Each morning the players would gather around him, and Bill would read off the card for the day. Then he would make his own prices—and if the players didn't like what was offered they couldn't bet. So what could they do about it?

Here, indeed, was a bookmaker's Utopia! His own prices, and no competition. Not a chance of a pinch, and no fees of any kind to be paid. There were no operating expenses; no runners or assistants that were not to be trusted. Sweet? It was wonderful!

For a few months this went on. And at the close of each day Bill would collect his pebbles and figure out very carefully just how much he was ahead. If a player went broke, Bill would advance him a few more of the red pebbles. But you may be certain that he kept complete track of all the pebbles that were borrowed.

One morning, just when things were moving at their best pace, something came up to disturb the whole routine. One of the players, his cheeks flushed and his eyes popping, raced up to the daffy bookmaker. He held his hands behind him.

"What's the price," he asked breathlessly, "on the favorite in the fourth race?"

Bill Baker looked at his list.

"Even money," he replied.

The customer nodded and brought his hands around. In them, was a large rock. He placed it on the ground and looked Bill squarely in the eye.

"I'm out of pebbles," he said evenly. "So I'm betting this. Put the whole thing on the favorite."

The bookie looked down at the rock and shook his head.

"Nothing doing," he said. "I won't take that bet."

The customer stiffened.

"What do you mean," he growled, "you won't take my bet?"

Bill nodded.

"You heard me," he smiled. "I'm no sucker. If you want to make a bet that big, you must have some inside information!" . . .

Joe Penner Radio's New Comic Star

By AIRCASTER

Rounding up stray news along Radio Row—

The new comic of the coming season, who will have a show all his own in the fall, will make another appearance with Rudy Vallee tomorrow. He is Joe (Wanna Buy a Duck?) Penner, who, the sapient souls along Broadway are saying, will be terrific. Joe's an old Pittsburgh vaudeville favorite.

The Bath Club, which has been off the air for moons, is coming back to CBS late in September with the biggest broadcast on record. It will use a comedy trio, a vocal chorus, a 60-piece orchestra, strangely enough, to be conducted by a gent who has been with the NBC since the early days of radio.

Few of their fans know it, but Amos and Andy made a quick trip to Toronto Monday night and staged a special radio show over the Canadian network, to square themselves with the Canucks for that international debt blast on July 4 last, which terribly embarrassed their sponsor.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Among notable country homes not so very far from Pittsburgh is that of Judge H. Walton Mitchell, whose city home is in Devon road.

His country home in English country house style was built three years ago at State College. It's of stone in a setting of green acres and shrubbery and vines, and boasts charming views from shady terraces.

Judge Mitchell is now there with his daughters Miss Adelaide Mitchell and Mrs. Lawrence Forncrook and her two children. And of course they entertain at many a house party, particularly over the week-ends.

This past week-end Mrs. C. C. Lee and her son-in-law and daughter, the C. M. Deakins, drove down for several days in the country. And the George E. Alters, of Dallas avenue, were also members of the house party.

The wedding, as I mentioned yesterday, will take place at noon.

Gotham Society Turns Eyes to Saratoga

By CHOLLY KNICKERBOCKER
Universal Service Society Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—All eyes, social and sporting, will be trained at Saratoga tomorrow!

On that day the ginger-bread shows will move from Southampton, Newport, Narragansett Pier, etc., and pitch camp in the little upstate spa, transforming it from a sleepy little watering place into a bustling cosmopolitan spot.

For tomorrow marks the opening of the racing season at Saratoga—and for one month king horse will reign supreme, with all the social and sporting world "among those present" at the beautiful race track.

There is no place in the world quite like Saratoga in August. Not dashing Deauville, nor Longchamps, nor lovely Chantilly, nor swish Ascot, all of which enjoy one brilliant opening day, can compare with the concentrated period of social and racing activity of which Saratoga boasts during the month of August.

Almost overnight there is a change, and having shaken off the lethargy which envelopes it for 11 months of the year, Saratoga becomes the liveliest of all the seasonal resorts until the final races are staged on the last day of August. For one month this town of "swift waters" and "swifter horses" blossoms brilliantly—then it folds up again to serenity and calm.

The social side of Saratoga promises this season to be more lively and colorful than ever, and practically all of the cottages have been rented by socially exalted followers of the turf.

Banker's Son Drowns In Dive From Boat

WATERTOWN, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Robert MacNeal, 21, son of a Philadelphia banker, was drowned late yesterday in Lake Brantingham when he dove from a rowboat and the wind carried it away so far he could not reach it.

The victim, with friends, came to this section Monday night to visit Rev. John Calhoun, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia. He was a senior at Penn State.

Lawyer Blames 'Blowout Jinx' For Tardiness

NEWPORT, Ky., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Aubrey Barbour, an attorney, told Judge A. M. Caldwell "unofficially you probably won't believe me, but nevertheless this excuse for tardiness is an honest one."

He said he was driving his automobile to court when a tire blew out. He hailed a cab, but a tire blew out on it too. So he called another cab, and just as he put a foot on the running board, a tire went flat. So he walked.

And he tripped and lost the rubber heel of a shoe on the way.

Phila. Deducts Taxes From Teachers' Pay

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Announcement was made yesterday that all public school employes who owe back taxes will have the amount of their delinquency subtracted from salaries.

Penna. Treasury Cash Holdings Less

HARRISBURG, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Pennsylvania's treasury holds $5,500,000 less than it did a month ago. The state had on hand yesterday $44,950,811, compared with $50,480,892 on July 1.

Receipts last month were $13,196,951; expenditures totaled $18,727,031.

Commissioners Must Pick Holiday Bands

Having decided that four band concerts will be held in the county parks Labor Day, the County Commissioners are faced with the problem of selecting musicians. The Musicians' Union, in a letter to the Commissioners, suggested the names of several bands.

The letter identified musicians who worked park concerts July 4, and suggested that others be employed Labor Day.

BUTTONHOLE STOCKING NEW SUMMER UNDERWEAR NOTE

THE MAKERS of knitted silk underwear seem never to overlook a thing. Thanks to their latest development (which we've "scooped" for you), its possible to say goodby to another piece of summer underwear. Protesting about the heat is unjustified now.

* * *

THE NEWEST brain-child does away with the need for a garter belt. The trend toward the elimination of underthings in the hot summer months must be reaching its peak with the introduction of stockings with buttonholes in the hems—these to be buttoned on to tapes attached to simple little panties, giving you one foundation garment to wear under your clothes.

* * *

THE BUTTONHOLES in the stocking top are embroidered with a wriggly long twisted stitch that makes garter runs impossible. Two sets of holes, one near the top of the hem, and another near the lower edge, make length adjustment a simple matter. So that regulation is even easier, the garter tapes concealed inside the panties also have adjustable slits through which you simply push the rubber button to get your correct length.

* * *

THE UNDERWEAR comes in two styles, all-in-ones, with double tops, low back and flare panties, in silk milanese. Or in tailored banded panties of fine silk tricot with openwork elastic waist and knee bands. (An improvement over the old-fashioned bloomer, this accomplishes the same result without unnecessary bulkiness.)

* * *

IF YOU'RE not young and slim enough to allow your curves to run wild, you can wear the buttonhole stockings with your own favorite girdle. Fasten the garters through the buttonholes. This feature eliminates unusual garter strain on the hose, probably giving you maximum wear for your money. A run-guard prevents a slipping stitch in the hose from getting very far. There are holes at both sides of the back seam, so there are no left-and-right complications.

* * *

THE CHECKED silk shirtwaist dress, with nice fat monogram on one pocket, and the high collarless neck, is so well cut that it wouldn't be difficult to "get away" with just the garter-pantie underneath.

LAWN CONCERT

Schenley Hotel

THE PROGRAM
Overture, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" ..... Mendelssohn
Military Symphony Minuet ..... Haydn
Tambourin Chinois ..... Kreisler-Falck
"The Cat and the Fiddle," selection ..... Kern
(a) "Lost in the Night" ..... Christiansen
(b) Cherubin Song ..... Glinka
A Cappella Choir.
"La Boheme" Fantasy ..... Puccini
Rakoczy March ..... Berlioz

Owing to the popularity of the Schenley Lawn Concerts, the management decided to continue these delightful events for another five concerts, the opening of the new series having taken place last night. If there is a cool spot to be found in this town it is at the Schenley, and fortunately, enough persons are glad to avail themselves of the good company and entertaining music.

Mr. Lissfelt

The program leaned a little last night toward the serious and, with an a capella choir as solo stunt, leaned almost too far from the frivolous spirit of garden music. Not that we disparage Mendelssohn nor a Haydn Minuet, but we just had to listen too hard for hot weather.

The orchestra is playing better as the weeks wear on, but I could not help watching how little Americans can be happy at such events as these concerts. The baton down and they flee for home without having gained any exhuberance from the music. And the hotel is all too willing to turn out the lights before the last guest has gone.

Morten Luvaas, formerly associated with the justly famous St. Olaf Choir, directed an a capella group in two songs that reminded us of the many good programs brought to us by the Minnesota singers.

The same gracious approach to his music, the same concentrated effort for tone and ensemble, and the loveliest nuances were all there as in the mother choir. We could have listened to many more songs from these singers.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

WOMAN SLAIN WITH HAMMER

SAN GABRIEL, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—The body of a young woman about 20 years old, the head beaten with a hammer, was discovered yesterday near the San Gabriel Country Club.

Authorities last night attempted to trace anonymous telephone calls which had informed sheriff's deputies where they could find the body, tentatively identified as that of Mary Mazon Senihui, of Escondido, Cal.

The body, head crushed by a hammer and a silk scarf twisted tightly around the neck, was found in a vacant lot here by John Morrell, sheriff's deputy.

Partial identification was made through a driver's license. Morrell said he believed the young woman had been strangled before being beaten to death.

Near the body authorities found a blood-stained hammer.

Investigators said they were searching for an Escondido man known to have been seen in Mrs. Senihui's company several times lately.

Authorities said Mrs. Senihui's husband is Ralph Senihui, now serving a life term in San Quentin Prison. He shot to death a friend and Mrs. Senihui's mother in May, 1931, and wounded several other persons.

JOHNSON DEATH GRIEF WIRED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Telegrams of sympathy from all parts of the United States were received today by United States Senator Hiram Johnson whose youngest son, Archibald M. Johnson, 42, San Francisco attorney, committed suicide in his fashionable peninsula home at Hillsborough.

Senator Johnson, his eldest son, Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., and other members of the family were in seclusion, while funeral arrangements were being completed.

Several stanzas of dramatic verse, penned in longhand by the Senator's son, indicated he had been despondent from illness and a divorce obtained in Reno last month by his wife, the former Martha Ruddy Leet Johnson.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A primary battle to name the candidate to oppose Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany Hall's probable choice for a second term, appeared inevitable today.

Fiorello H. LaGuardia, former Congressman, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination, and Gen. John F. O'Ryan said that if the Republican mayoralty committee indorsed him he would become the candidate of the fusion movement.

Half-Fee Motor Permits Sell Fast

CRASH AT CONEY POOL HURTS 40

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(Universal.—Forty spectators at the crowded swimming pool in Coney Island's Steeplechase Park were injured yesterday when a balcony over the pool collapsed.

The crowd had mounted the balcony to watch an impromptu fight between two bathers in the pool, which was jammed with men, women and children. None of the victims was seriously injured. Four were taken to hospitals for cuts and bruises.

With ambulances clanging to the scene, police reserves were called to restrain the crowds of curious who rushed to the scene. A near-panic followed the collapse of the structure when bathers rushed for the exits.

POLES ESCAPE INTO GERMANY

BRESLAU, Germany, Aug. 2.—(INS.)—Shouting defiance at Polish border guards who shot at them, 220 jobless men from Polish Upper Silesia crossed the border into Germany today.

The men were incensed at dole reductions and at Polish officials who replied to their protests with this admonition:

"Get your doles from Hitler."

Crying "Hail Hitler" and "Down with Poland!" the men rushed across the frontiers under a fusillade of bullets from the Polish guard. German police are now harboring the fugitives, and are frankly worried over the situation.

Hundreds of others are camping on the Polish side of the frontier, hoping to get across.

For wiping perspiration from faces

Better keep a package always handy in the car!

Illustrations and text copr. 1933 Kleenex Co.

HOW many times have you wished you had Kleenex with you while driving?

Windshield covered with dust, and the only cloths in the car so greasy, they'd only make matters worse! Face wet with perspiration, and your only handkerchief grimy from previous wipings.

With plenty of Kleenex along, you always have something clean with which to wipe dirt and grease off your hands, to clean windshields, steering wheels. Always a clean handkerchief for face and eyeglasses.

A picnic napkin

Stop for a roadside bite, and you have a dainty napkin in a fresh, clean Kleenex tissue. Stop at a pump to cool off and refresh your face, and you have an emergency towel.

Let the children have that ice cream cone. Kleenex will keep the drippings from soiling their clothes or the car's upholstery.

Useful in so many ways—Kleenex should be the motorist's constant companion on every trip, long or short. Simply keep a package always in the car. Put it in a side pocket—or, better still, on the seat right beside you where it is handy to use.

For that holiday trip, stock up on Kleenex before you start. Buy Kleenex at any drug or department store.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Three international labor defense attorneys ruled out of participation in the trial of two Negroes accused of killing a white girl were twice threatened by crowds as National Guardsmen hurried them from the hearing at Tuscaloosa, Maj. M. T. Jemison reported to police here.

The trial of the first of the Negroes, Dan Pippen, Jr., 18, was called at Tuscaloosa yesterday and Attorneys Irving Schwab and Allan Taub, of New York, both associated with the Scottsboro attack cases, and Frank B. Irvin, of Birmingham, sought to join defense counsel.

After Pippen and his mother and father told the court they desired representation by attorneys other than Schwab, Taub and Irvin, Judge Foster ruled the three out of the case and postponed the trial along with that of Pippen's co-defendant, Elmore Clarke, 28.

POLITICS

Peace Reigns in the Fifth Ward

By MARK SHIELDS

Ward Chairman Harry Feldman and David B. Roberts buried the hatchet up in the Fifth Ward last night, and, strange to relate, not in each other.

The occasion was news because Roberts and Feldman have been at odds for years, Feldman following the late Charles H. Kline and then Mayor John S. Herron, while Roberts, formerly chairman of the ward, trailed in the army of James F. Malone. Last night Roberts came openly into the Herron camp and repudiated his former leader as one who "hopped around so much" that no one could tell from week to week where he stood.

Mr. Shields.

Roberts was superintendent of the County Building under the late Joseph G. Armstrong, and was continued in that post by the present county board when the old regime was overturned. Some months ago, he was suspended, following an accusation in an election case—of which he was speedily and emphatically acquitted—and the suspension has never been lifted.

His status constitutes something of a record in political suspensions, and he might well be exhibited by County Commissioner McGovern on that score at the county fair the Commissioner is to stage out at South Park.

* * *

Smith Indorsement Is Cause for Comment

One of the strange things of the meeting was the apparently unanimous indorsement the Fifth Ward organization gave Judge Ralph H. Smith. This indorsement followed an approval of the "regular" ticket of Mayor Herron and the five sitting councilmen who are seeking election.

Judge Smith has not played ball with this outfit, but he is liked by Roberts. He certainly will not have an organization indorsement in such wards as yield to the influence of Senator James J. Coyne. The incident is merely an example of the criss-cross of alliances which will be on exhibition in this campaign, growing more complicated as the days roll toward September 19.

No surprise will be occasioned should former Mayor William A Magee become a real independent candidate for a Republican councilmanic nomination, free of any alliances with mayoralty candidates, and not on the slate of any one.

There has been considerable pressure on Mr. Magee to run. Indeed, he has been widely discussed as a compromise mayoralty candidate of the anti-administration groups, but declined to entertain the suggestion, at least so far as the primary is concerned.

Approval By Magee Would Be Appreciated

If Magee is a councilmanic candidate his assistance will be sought by all mayoralty aspirants. He is not apt to extend it openly. His indorsement would be valuable because he is recognized as an authority on municipal government, and approval of any of the candidates might be accepted as a token that Mr. Magee thought some particular one of the three or four who will seek the Republican nomination is best fitted for the executive's post.

At the time Judge Frank P. Patterson was urged by anti-administrationists to become a Mayoralty candidate there was active discussion of Mr. Magee as an alternative, but he closed the door to that.

The business of electing a City Council promises to be a complicated affair. Mayor Herron will have with him the five sitting Councilmen.

But the other slates are in the making, and achieving selections which will have a wide appeal is a troublesome problem. The Citizens League group, working with Councilman P. J. McArdle, its candidate for Mayor, has had several conferences, and more are scheduled before a final decision is reached.

* * *

Hope for a Unified Slate Is Growing Dim

Daily the hope that there might be a unified Councilmanic slate grows less. The Citizens League is giving attention to John D. Houston and Hugh McKnight as candidates, but is discussing as well the claims of all who have filed.

Thomas F. Ashford probably will be a Mackrell councilmanic candidate, having run with James F. Malone in 1929. State Representative Ed Hough may also run with Mackrell as one of the North Side entries.

It is no secret that all wings of the anti-administration forces hope to break through the North Side, where Council President Harry Little and Councilman C. B. Connelley have their residences. The battle against Little promises to be particularly strong.

FORCED TO QUIT COSTLY HOME, WIFE SAYS

Alimony Move Balked, Ex-Auto Dealer's Mate Asks Writ

Charging that her husband had forced her to leave their luxurious home and that she lacks sufficient funds for her maintenance, Mrs. Dorothy McAlister, now living at the Royal Yorke Apartments, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Raymond P. McAlister, of 1401 North Highland avenue, asking the court to order that he provide for her.

If he fails to do this she asks that an injunction be issued restraining him from selling or mortgaging a part of his estate sufficient to provide for her.

CHARGES CRUELTY

Mrs. McAlister filed suit for divorce a week ago, charging cruel and barbarous treatment.

In the injunction suit she said through Attorney O. K. Eaton, that she had been unable to serve a subpena on her husband and had heard that he was traveling. She said she had been informed he might go to Reno to sue for divorce.

Mrs. McAlister said her husband has more than $1,000,000, as a result of the sale of his automobile business four years ago, and that he spends part of his time on his private yacht, which he keeps at Baltimore.

ALIMONY MOVE BACKED

The suit said she has no assets but a small savings fund, and cannot petition for alimony because her husband has evaded service of the subpena. He has an income of more than $50,000, she asserts.

She says that "until he commenced his improper conduct," he maintained a beautiful home for her and provided for her adequately. They took numerous trips on the yacht and to Florida and elsewhere. She does not amplify or explain what she means by "his improper conduct."

She adds that her husband and his brother formed the McAlister Brothers Corporation with capital of $1,000,000.

He separated from her without cause, she declared.

No hearing can be had until McAlister is served, either through subpena or, that failing, by advertising over a period of time.

19 SUITS FILED FOR DIVORCE

Nineteen divorce suits were filed in Common Pleas Court as follows:

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 2.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Before breakfast the U. S. Treasury offered $850 million worth of bonds, and before they had reached the ham and eggs, they were all sold. That means sold and paid for, and salted away, not part paid for and the rest on margins, till you sold 'em over the ticker to somebody else.

If industry could interest some permanent buyers like W[illegible] Roosevelt can in his business, then they could truly call themselves industrialists. As it is now they are just manufacturing dice for Wall street to shoot craps with. Nobody is buying a pair to keep.

Charles Scholl, 72, who lives on the fifth floor of a building at 117 West Ohio street, was severely beaten last night by an occupant of an apartment of the fourth floor because he left a leaking water bucket on a fire escape, according to a police report.

The assailant, police said, upbraided the aged man and beat him. Scholl was treated at Allegheny General Hospital. Police are searching for the assailant.

BANKERS SHIFT STAND ON HOME LOAN BONDS

Insurance Firms May Accept Securities, Forecast Here

Bankers and insurance firms in Pittsburgh seemed to be shifting from their indifferent attitude toward bonds of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation as a result of pressure from home owners whose mortgages they hold.

Representatives of several of the institutions today waited on officials of the corporation here and suggested a conference to work out terms on which they can accept the bonds in exchange for mortgages they hold.

OWNERS PROTEST

J. S. Baughman, Pittsburgh manager of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, said their action followed visits from many of the 8,000 who stood in line at the Benedum-Trees Building yesterday for hours, waiting to learn how they could obtain mortgage relief.

The line was still forming today.

Meanwhile, the Mutual Guarantee Building and Loan Association of Philadelphia and a prominent attorney and banker here have already agreed to take the securities, of which $2,000,000,000 in $50 denominations bearing 4 per cent interest can be issued.

BONDS ACCEPTED

Word from suburban bankers and building and loan associations is that they are accepting the bonds wherever possible in an attempt to ease the mortgage situation and prevent foreclosures.

Pittsburgh banking houses, however, unenthusiastically dallied with the idea of accepting them and postponed decision. With pressure being brought to bear on them by their distressed mortgagors, however, early arrangements to accept the securities were expected.

Between 25 and 30 complete applications for aid were made at the offices of the corporation yesterday, Baughman said.

Dope and Rum No Longer Diet For Race Horses

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Rather startling to hear about the government confiscating dope at a race track.

It's getting so a hoss can't eat what he wants to any more.

Just a little pill. Wash it down with a bale of hay. And he will run like busted plumbing.

They tell us that old Man o' War used to get a snorter of whisky before he went to the barrier. Of course, he is buying his own now.

But they were good old days. Every drug store in the country had a separate department for race hosses.

It's a pretty good racket. We're warning the boys not to muscle in on the twenty-mule borax team.

Herron Upholds Traffic Court Discharges

If Magistrate J. Scott Morgan, who is Republican chairman of the Thirteenth Ward, discharges eight out of every 10 motorists, including many politicians, who face him for traffic violations, it's all right with Mayor Herron. The Mayor said today:

"Traffic Court is a court of correction and not especially designed as a revenue producer. Every man is entitled to his day in court."

Of 9,841 persons who faced Morgan, 8,620 were discharged, the others fined.

ROOSEVELT MEN HERE PETITION ATTORNEY

Would Oppose Henry In Contest for Nomination

By MARK SHIELDS

Democratic Congressmen and members of the Legislature and Roosevelt delegates from Pittsburgh to the last Democratic National Convention today petitioned Attorney William N. McNair to become a candidate for the Democratic mayoralty nomination.

The request was presented by Representative John J. Kane, one of the Democratic leaders of the last legislative session, and himself mentioned as a mayoralty possibility in recent discussions.

Mr. McNair withheld decision on the appeal, but it is assumed he will within a short time announce his candidacy.

Such an announcement would mean a conflict in the Democratic primary, Attorney John M. Henry already having entered the field for the nomination, representing the anti-Guffey wing of the party and the group which was opposed to Roosevelt in the pre-convention activity of last year.

AID OF PRESIDENT

Today's action by Kane, representing the Roosevelt delegates, was designed to indicate that McNair represented the Roosevelt principles and would probably have the tacit, if not public, support of the President in his primary and general election campaigns, should he win the nomination.

Democratic leaders within the organization recognize that to identify their candidate with the Roosevelt "new deal" will be a tremendous asset, as their success depends upon attracting normally Republican voters who approve the course of Mr. Roosevelt since he became President and who voted for him for that office.

The decision to ask McNair to run was reached last night, the culmination of a series of meetings which have been held in the last two weeks. In last night's meeting were the three Democratic Congressmen from Pittsburgh, the seven Democratic members of the Legislature and the eight Roosevelt delegates to the national convention.

The signers of today's letter were: J. Twing Brooks, Matt A. Dunn, Henry Ellenbogen, John J. Kane, John L. Powers, John J. O'Keefe, Claire E. McGinnis, George V. Beech, James L. Quinn, Charles Harmuth, B. B. McGinnis, James Houlahen, William M. Turner, Harry F. Logsdon, Edward R. Frey, Patrick T. Fagan, John McCarthy and Mrs. Bonnie Quaill.

ROOSEVELT CAMP

In the letter addressed to McNair the committee said:

"We feel that our group fully represents the Roosevelt democracy. We helped nominate him at Chicago, we are supporting him in Washington, and at Harrisburg we fought for the same kind of a program of social legislation that he sponsored in Congress."

The letter made no mention of the Republican party, but said:

"Never since the campaign during which the late George W. Guthrie was elected Mayor has the Democratic party in Pittsburgh had such an opportunity to place its nominee in office."

Outlining the qualifications of a Mayor, the letter read:

"First of all, fitness for office. No person, regardless of party, is entitled to consideration who does not have a full grasp of the complex affairs of municipal government.

"He must be a man of unimpeachable integrity whose past life is a guarantee of an honest administration.

"We have gone over in our minds the names of many men, we have weighed the qualifications of all whose names have been suggested, and as a result of our discussions and investigations we have unanimously agreed that no other Democrat meets the above specifications so completely and satisfactorily as you."

RAN WITH SMITH

McNair was a candidate for Mayor in 1921, at a time when the committee said there was "no hope of a Democratic victory." In 1928 he ran for the United States Senate against Senator David A. Reed, receiving more than 1,000,000 votes, running on the same ticket with Alfred E. Smith.

He has consistently been a Democrat in the Bryan, Wilson, Cox, Smith and Roosevelt campaigns.

Mr. McNair resides at 1212 North Sheridan avenue.

Parents Seeking Funds To Bury Drowned Boy

The body of John Stachaszewski, 14, of 617 Parkview boulevard, O'Hara Township, a river victim, lay in the county morgue today, while his parents endeavored to raise funds for burial.

John was drowned while bathing in the Allegheny River at the foot of Tenth street, Sharpsburg, late yesterday, in view of his brother and other companions. Seized with cramps, he sank before Thomas Brown, of 1221 Main street, Sharpsburg, swimming to his aid, could reach him. Brown recovered the body after diving 20 minutes

Sharpsburg police, under Chief Chester Zygello, and a physician worked an hour trying to revive the boy with an inhalator and artificial respiration.

The body was taken to the morgue by Deputy Coroner Roy Addlesburger after it was learned the Stachaszewski family was without funds, he said.

CITIES TO VOTE ON MACHINES AT PRIMARY

Voting machines will be used in all districts of Pittsburgh and in the cities of Duquesne, McKeesport and Clairton at the September primaries, Director W. T. Rees, of the Bureau of Elections, informed the County Commissioners yesterday. The Commissioners, in conference with Rees, decided the machines would be distributed on the basis of one for each 250 voters.

Commissioner W. D. Mansfield advocated the basis of one for each 200 voters, saying this would provide sufficient facilities for rush hours at the polls. He yielded, however, and agreed with the others to set the number at 250.

Rees said a few machines may be used in the boroughs, but arrangements will be made to use paper ballots in the outlying sections.

Rees was given permission to have ballots printed for all of the county's 941 districts, for use if machines fail to work.

Rees informed the Commissioners paper ballots would be used where the list of candidates was too long for voting machines. These paper ballots will be used only for ward and district offices.

The three county representatives who went bargain hunting in Baltimore were expected back today. They visited the old plant of the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, where the machines were built, to buy spare parts and materials which otherwise would have been junked.

The American arrived at Dairen from Tientsin in charge of a tourist party when he was told a ruling of the Manchukuo government and the Japanese embassy at Changchun forbade him from entering the territory because of anti-Manchukuo writings.

He left Dairen by airplane for Shangishu on the Korean frontier, expecting to meet the party there. Members of the group were admitted to Manchukuo.

1 DEAD, 12 HURT IN CUBA STRIKE

HAVANA, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Secretary of Agriculture Eugenio Molinet redoubled efforts today to settle a bus drivers' strike in connection with which a series of violent acts has occurred.

In gunfire and hand-to-hand fighting one man was killed yesterday and 12 others, including an 11-year-old girl, were wounded.

Demonstrations took place at a barber shop and a cigar factory, and striking drivers paraded in uptown Havana. Many privately owned automobiles were damaged. By sundown nearly all taxi drivers joined the strike, which is in protest against what drivers charge are exorbitant fees for permits, and against "voluntary" taxes for street maintenance.

DASH FOR BED COSTS $100

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Herman Tettin wanted to get home—quickly.

Testimony in police court revealed that traffic laws didn't prevent him from ignoring a traffic officer's signal, running over a fire hose, going through a stop light, striking a coaster wagon and sideswiping three automobiles.

A screaming siren on a squad car and three shots fired at his tires didn't stop him. In addition, he missed the driveway to his garage and struck the front porch of his home.

The police were close behind, but he was in bed when they found him. He was fined $100.

BRITISH BOMB REBELS AGAIN

SIMLA, India, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—British airplanes bombed Kotkai Village of the Bajauri tribe on the Northwest Frontier a second time last night in an attempt to force tribesmen to give up three men accused of fomenting unrest.

The attacks were expected to be resumed today. No casualties were reported in the bombardments, the first of which took place yesterday.

A brigade from Peshawar, enroute to support the friendly Halimzai tribe against any threatened attack by upper Mohmand tribesmen reached Galanai without incident.

It was considered unlikely there will be any further move until the completion of a track for wheeled transport cars as far as Galanai.

Pilots engaged in reconnoitering today reported having seen no sign of hostile troops. They were forbidden to fly beyond the presumptive border, however.

Master's Whistle Calls Fish For Food

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 2.—(INS.)—This is just another fish story but concerns a finned creature that is not just another fish.

Fishing in French Creek near here, a local bank clerk's son landed a fine specimen. It was an educated bass, no less, although that wasn't learned until later.

The son took the fish home and placed it in his private pool. A couple of days later he took some worms out to the pool to feed to the bass. He whistled and the bass darted to the edge of the pool. He nibbled the worms as the youth held them.

Now the boy can whistle for the bass, pick him up and then feed him angleworms for the entertainment of spectators.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article one, section eight, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met. That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That article nine, section eight, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as provided herein, and in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall the debt of any county except as provided in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed ten (10) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable realty therein, but the debt of the city and county of Philadelphia may be increased in such amount that the total city and country debt of said city and county shall not exceed fifteen (15) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable realty therein; nor shall any municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness, to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of taxable property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the city and county of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said city and county as shall have been incurred, or is about to be incurred, and the proceeds thereof expended, or about to be expended, upon any public improvement, or for construction, purchase, or condemnation of any public utility, or part thereof, or facility therefor, to the extent that such public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, whether separately, or in connection with any other public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, may yield, or may reasonably be expected to yield, revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges therefrom. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly.

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the city and county of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing, not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment of such sinking fund to be in equal or graded annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall be, or shall have been, incurred by said city and county of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works or utilities of any character, from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city and county, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city and county, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for, and may include the amount of, the interest and sinking fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred, but not in excess of five years from the time of the incurring of such indebtedness; and said city and county shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article fifteen, section four, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section four of article fifteen is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 4. The General Assembly is hereby authorized to provide for the consolidation of the county, poor districts, cities, boroughs and townships of the county of Allegheny, and the offices thereof, into a consolidated city and county, with the constitutional and legal capacity of a municipal corporation, to be known either as "Greater Pittsburgh" or "Metropoitan Pittsburgh" or "City of Pittsburgh (Metropolitan)," and to provide for a charter for its government, and to fix the name thereof in the charter. The said charter shall be submitted to the electors of said county at a special or general election to be provided for therein. If the majority of the electors, voting thereon in the county as a whole, and at least a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof, vote in the affirmative, the said charter shall take effect for the whole county.

If rejected, the said charter may be resubmitted by the county commissioners to the electors from time to time, but not oftener than once in two years, until adopted. Until a charter shall have been adopted as aforesaid, the General Assembly shall have the power to amend or modify the said charter, in which event the charter as amended or modified shall be submitted and resubmitted as aforesaid.

It shall be competent, subject to the police power of the State, for the Legislature to provide in said charter.

I. For the exercise by the consolidated city of all the powers and duties vested in the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and such other powers appropriate to a municipality as may be specified therein, except such powers as are specially reserved by this section to the municipal divisions herein provided for.

II. For the election of a board of commissioners, by district and/or at large, by the electors of the consolidated city the number to be fixed by the charter, in lieu of present county commissioners, in which board shall be vested all the powers of the consolidated city except as otherwise provided in the charter.

III. For the organization of a government for the consolidated city, and for the appointment or election of any officers thereof, created by the Constitution, or otherwise, and to provide for their powers and duties.

IV. For the organization and reorganization of the courts other than those of record in the consolidated city, and for the appointment and/or election of the judges and officers thereof, and for the procedure thereof, including the right to provide that said court or courts be courts of record, which courts may exercise the jurisdiction, powers and rights of the magistrates, Aldermen and justices of the peace, and such other jurisdiction and powers as may be conferred by law.

V. For the transfer to and the assumption by the consolidated city of the property and indebtedness of the county of Allegheny, and the poor districts thereof, and of such property and indebtedness of the cities, boroughs and townships thereof as relate to the powers and duties of said consolidated city, and to provide for an equitable adjustment and arrangement with respect thereto and for the payment of such indebtedness, and, for this purpose, any taxation therein, arising thereby, shall be uniform taxation within the meaning and intent of other provisions of the Constitution.

VI. For the assessment of property for taxation, the levying and collecting of taxes, and the payment of the cost of any public or municipal improvement, in whole or in part, by special assessment upon abutting and non-abutting property specially benefited thereby.

VII. For the creation, by the board of commissioners, of districts for the purpose of regulating the location, height, area, bulk and use of buildings and premises.

VIII. For the creation of indebtedness by the consolidated city within the limits now or hereafter imposed upon cities by other provisions of the Constitution. Such power to create indebtedness shall not impair the power of the municipal divisions, within the consolidated city, to create indebtedness within the limits now or hereafter imposed upon municipalities by other provisions of the Constitution.

IX. For the creation, by the board of commissioners, of special districts for the purpose of carrying on or carrying out any public or municipal improvement, not for the exclusive benefit of any one municipal division; and, for the payment of the cost and maintenance of such property or improvement, or any part thereof, special taxes may be levied throughout such special districts, respectively, as separate and apart from the general consolidated city tax.

X. For the exercise of such powers by the consolidated city as may be necessary to enable it to carry on and carry out such municipal and metropolitan powers and functions as the General Assembly may deem advisable and expedient and for the general welfare of the said city and its inhabitants.

Provided, however, That it is the intent of this section that substantial powers be reserved to the cities, boroughs and townships situated in Allegheny County. To this end, the charter shall provide for the continued existence of the said cities, boroughs and townships, as municipal divisions of the consolidated city, under their present names and forms of government, subject to the laws now or hereafter provided for government of municipalities of their respective forms and classes and to the powers conferred upon the consolidated city by the charter, and with their present boundaries. Any two or more of said municipal divisions, or portions thereof, may, with the consent of a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of such divisions at the general election, be united to form a single municipal division. Wherever a portion of a municipal division is involved, the election shall be held in the entire municipal division of which such portion is a part.

The said municipal divisions shall have and continue to have the following powers:

I. The constitutional and legal capacity of municipal corporations.

II. The power to levy and collect taxes and to incur indebtedness, subject to the limitations which are or may be imposed by law upon cities, boroughs or townships of corresponding classification, for the purpose of carrying out any lawful power of said divisions.

III. The power to acquire, own, construct, maintain, operate or contract for all kinds of public property, works, improvements, utilities or services, which shall be within the municipal division and, where authorized by law, without the limits of the municipal division. Subject, however, to the right and power of the consolidated city to construct, acquire, maintain and/or operate public works, improvements, utilities and services of all kinds, including through streets, highways and/or bridges for the use and benefit of the consolidated city and its inhabitants.

IV. The power to maintain a local police force and local fire department, either paid or volunteer, with the necessary buildings, appurtenances and equipment therefor, which may be independent of or supplemental to the police force and fire department of the consolidated city.

V. All other powers not specifically granted by the charter to the consolidated city. Provided, however, That a municipal division may surrender, by a majority vote of the electors voting thereon at any general or special election, any of its powers to the consolidated city, subject to the acceptance thereof by the board of commissioners.

After a charter has been adopted as aforesaid, it may be amended as follows:

I. In matters which relate only to the powers of the consolidated city and which do not reduce the powers of any one or more of the municipal divisions thereof by the General Assembly: Provided, however, That any amendment which changes or modifies the form of government of the consolidated city, or the number of or manner of election of the commissioners thereof, shall not be effective until such amendment shall have been ratified by a majority of the electors of the consolidated city voting thereon at a general or special election, to be provided for in said amendment.

II. In matters which reduce the powers of any one or more of the municipal divisions of the consolidated city, such amendment, enacted by the General Assembly, shall not be effective until it shall have been ratified at a general or special election, to be provided for in said amendment, by a majority of the electors voting thereon in all of the municipal divisions affected thereby, and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of a majority of said municipal divisions so affected.

CAPITOL HILL SOFT PEDALS INFLATION

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—With new important federal bond and note issues impending, there appears to be a disposition at the moment in Washington to soft pedal any tendency to conjecture about further inflation.

Mr. Rukeyser

Obviously, the buyer of eight-year bonds, such as will be offered, must presuppose that the dollars which will be returned to him in eight years will be of equal purchasing power with those which he pays for the bonds this year. Otherwise, the 3¼ per cent interest return would not be attractive.

In connection with the new financing, the success of which is essential if the "managed recovery" is to prevail, it is important to bear in mind that perhaps much—if not most—of the threatened inflation has already taken place, if the position of the dollar in foreign exchange is a fair criterion. However, if domestic purchasing power is the test, the administration has gone only part of the way toward its major objective of higher price levels.

From the standpoint of federal credit, it would be well if the proposed new issues would appeal to private investors. If not, the government has the power in the emergency banking act to cause the Federal Reserve to take them, and in that manner inflate the bank credit outstanding. The offering of baby bonds—$50 bonds—represents an effort to regiment the small investor in the battle of dollars against continued economic chaos.

It is the current fashion among those who are pulling the strings behind the scenes at Washington to emphasize business activity, including industrial codes, agricultural agreements, and public works, rather than theoretical changes in monetary policy. Apparently it is thought that soft pedaling inflation talk for the time being will help to quiet down the speculative markets, which until a fortnight ago had been running at a riotous pace.

Yet in spite of the immediate disposition to play down inflation talk, many believe that more inflation is coming—partly through manipulated credit expansion to finance the government's extraordinary budget.

Although Senator Glass indicated that the proposed new legislation "creates the Federal Reserve Bank System into a servile agency of the Treasury Department," Edmund Platt, former vice governor of the Federal Reserve Board, points out that the banking act of 1933 also contains more than 20 clauses which increase the power of the federal reserve board.

Alcohol Stocks Revive As Banks Relax Requirements

The alcohol group was prominent again today by reason of uniform strength. Renewed activity in the so-called "wet" stocks is due partially, no doubt, to the disposition of the banks to be a little more liberal in their treatment of such shares as collateral for loans. It was a sudden tightening up by institutions on that group of stocks as loan collateral which gave the market its first upset a fortnight ago, paving the way for the severe but not unprecedented correction which followed in the wake of their precipitous break.

The action of the shares of railroads which normally haul the bulk of Pennsylvania Coal will be watched over the duration of the miners' strike. Unless the unsettlement spreads to West Virginia and Illinois fields, however, chances are that the Pennsylvania shutdown will result in increased production in those areas to the benefit of such roads as the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western, The Virginian and the Illinois Central.

Dividend cuts and omissions in July were fewer than in any month since August, 1930, the Standard Statistics Company reported today. Unfavorable changes totaled 87 compared with 140 in June and 286 in July, 1932. There were 71 favorable revisions against 82 in the previous month and 26 in the same period last year. For the first seven months unfavorable actions numbered 1,208 against 2,129 in the like period last year.

Loew's Inc. stock has been bought on recessions on the theory that the new industrial code which will give people more leisure and more spending power will be of material help to the amusement companies. In addition, film companies are now starting the most profitable season of the year with new programs ready to release. Loew's has come through the depression in strong financial position and has currently over $8,000,000 in cash. Production, expenses have been materially reduced as well as rentals and interest charges.

Partners in brokerage houses are discussing what action to take under the blanket code. A number have decided that the best line to pursue is to wait for a definite ruling from the counsel for the Association of Stock Exchange Firms. Lawyers for the organization are working on the matter. Some firms figure they are under the "blanket already." As far as hours of work go, that is true of all stock exchange firms now, for employes are working on a five-day week and eight-hour day basis. Most firms during late May, June and early July added to their staffs, and the only difficulty now is that, if small trading sessions continue, they will be over-staffed instead of under-staffed.

Grain markets continue to fluctuate in an erratic manner. There has been selling of wheat regarded as against purchases of corn presumably to close spreads. All grains remain easily influenced by any good buying or selling, but attention is called to the fact that today is the first time in five business days that it has been possible to trade in any volume up to noon at less than the limits on fluctuations established by exchange regulations. This is regarded in some quarters as indicating that the markets will have adjusted themselves to the new conditions within a few days after which the general run of news will come in for more attention.

POWER OUTPUT HOLDING UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Despite indications of some seasonal contraction in industrial activity, electric power output last week held its recent ratio of gain over last year.

Increased consumption in the Middle Atlantic and Central industrial regions were important factors in the sustained improvement, which carried the outturn moderately above that of the week ended July 22.

Production, as reported by the Edison Electric Institute, amounted to 1,661,504,000 kilowatt hours against 1,654,424,000 in the previous week and 1,440,386,000 in the like 1932 period. The gain over last year of 15.4 per cent exactly duplicated the previous week's rise.

Combustion Program Declared Operative

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The plan for reorganization of the International Combustion Engineering Corporation, has been declared operative by the reorganization committee, but will not immediately apply to the bonds and claims against the Heine Biler Company, a subsidiary. A new concern, Combustion Engineering Company, Inc., has been organized with approximately $2,900,000 first mortgage bonds, $1,000,000 of 5 per cent debentures and 150,000 shares of common stock.

Steel Operations Expand at Apollo

Business of the Apollo Steel Company has shown marked expansion during the past several weeks and is at present holding around the best levels of the upturn. Operations have expanded about 250 per cent since March, and the payroll has shown a similar increase. Further increase in the payroll will take place with the inauguration of the new steel "code" schedule.

STOCKS MOPE IN APATHETIC MAREKT

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Security markets moped in apathetic indifference today and the best efforts of the more optimistic professional operators were unable to attract followings in most categories.

There was a mild continuation of yesterday's late rally in stocks, with some of the distillery issues and a few of the agricultural shares improving. The upswing was comparatively brief, however, and prices soon began to slip back to lower levels. As there was no vitality to the rise, neither was there any great pressure in most of the early reactions. Grains again spurted in the restricted Chicago market, dropped back for losses and recovered. Winnipeg wheat was heavy. Cotton was reactionary. Bonds were sluggishly irregular. The dollar eased in foreign exchange dealings.

Public participation in stocks was at a minimum, most of the enthusiastic amateur traders of several weeks ago not having recovered from the injuries they received in the recent severe reaction. Also, commission men point out, the opinion seems to be fairly general that Washington authorities do not want another run-away market at this time and leaders of the financial district are heartily in sympathy with this attitude.

Reports of tremendous crop damage in Canada and the northwest generally, indicating the shortest crops for many years, are not altogether cheering to many of the railroads which previously have been highly optimistic over prospective grain carrying revenues. Merchandising companies that sell to farmers also are not too pleased over the crop situation. It is realized that, while grain prices can soar, the purchasing power of the farmer may not be bettered appreciably because he will not have the grain to sell.

NO RULING YET ON ROYALTIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Officials of the federal trade commission's securities division said today they had made no formal ruling placing under the registration act oil royalties which are divided up and distributed generally to the public, but they saw no reason why gas and oil royalties should not be so classified.

This information was given informally in commenting on a meeting of the Mid-Continent Royalty Owners' Association at Tulsa, Okla., yesterday which resulted in a protest against any requirement that royalties sent through the interstate mails be registered with the commission. J. R. Simpson, president of the Royalty Owners' group, said:

"Oil and gas leases and royalties are of such a nature that values change overnight and it is virtually impossible to follow strictly the new federal law in such dealings."

Replying to this statement, one official of the securities division said here today that:

"Values of United States Steel also change overnight and every hour."

COTTON PRICES RULE LOWER

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 to 6 lower in response to disappointing Liverpool cables and under scattered selling. October, 10.47; December, 10.68; January, 10.76; March, 10.86; May, 11.05; July, 11.23.

Houses with Liverpool connections were moderate sellers here at the opening, but offerings were light and the market soon steadied on trade and commission house buying which came partly through houses with New Orleans and western connections. The buying was stimulated by the steadier tone of the stock market and the firm opening of wheat. December contracts sold up to 10.84 by the end of the first half hour or about 13 points net higher.

December sold off to 10.46 cents and the general list showed net losses of about 19 to 26 points at midday.

PIRATES NEAR MAJOR WINNING RECORD

THE BASEBALL FATES again were lending a helping hand to the onrushing Pirates in halting Carl Hubbell with a defeat after he had pitched 46 consecutive scoreless innings to break the National League record of 44 straight barren rounds, established by Ed Reulbach 25 years ago. Huck Betts, the Boston pitcher, enjoyed a belated return to form to stop Hubbell and beat the Giants just when it would do the Rovers a lot of good. Prior to yesterday, Betts had won only four games all season while loosing nine, had pitched very few complete engagements, and of his last eight games he had lost seven.

Carl Hubbell

Hubbell was within one strike of another complete scoreless inning and perhaps a continuance of his great streak, when Randy Moore's single, with two out and two strikes called, knocked in the two runs that put the Bucs within two and a half games of first place. It will be interesting to note whether Hubbell, now that his shutout drive has been stopped, will be thrown out of stride by a reaction to the lifted strain. The Giants have kept him working at high tension all season by failing to hit behind him.

Meanwhile the Pirates themselves approached to within reach of a record for the present campaign. By winning their eighth consecutive victory they equaled the longest winning streak of the year in the National League, set by the Cubs from July 5 to 13. Today the Bucs needed only one more win to set a new mark for the season in the National and also to equal the best record of 1933 in both major loops, which the Yankees set at nine straight from July 11 to 19. Besides the Yankees, Pirates and Cubs, Washington was the only other club to win as many as eight straight this year. As to the best records of the rest of the clubs, the Cardinals, Phillies and A's won seven in a row; the Giants and Red Sox six; the Braves, Indians and Tigers five; the Dodgers, Reds and White Sox four, and the Browns three.

OF COURSE, A minor league pitcher has to learn a whole lot more before he can hope to establish himself in the majors. But at that, Nap Rucker, one of baseball's best left-handers in his heyday with the Dodgers, and now a scout for that club, declares that while he has seen only a few big league games this year he is convinced it is easier to pitch in the majors than in the minors.

Rucker figures it out on the basis that while hurling a complete game in the minors, a pitcher will make at least one-third as many more deliveries than a big leaguer will over the same distance. This is because down in the little leagues the batters do not swing at the first pitch as often as the major leaguers do.

---

Like ghosts of the past, ball players of yesteryear bob up in most unexpected fashion. Manager George Gibson, of the Pirates, has received a letter from a foeman of the long ago that convinces him old-timers of the diamond never lose their interest in baseball.

The letter is from none other than Luther (Dummy) Taylor, a deaf-mute pitcher for the Giants from 1900 to 1908, inclusive.

---

"TAYLOR WROTE ME about a young pitcher he had been watching," says the Pirate manager, "and advised me to have one of our scouts investigate the prospect. Dummy says his discovery has the makings of a really good pitcher. It's strange that Taylor recommended the pitcher to me, as I had been out of touch with him for many years. Evidently Dummy still is following major league baseball. They all do. It's second nature to them and they never lose interest in it. You can bet that I answered Taylor's letter and was glad to hear from him."

Connie Mack

FANS IN OTHER American League cities, who are figuring on seeing Connie Mack sell some of his Philadelphia stars to their clubs for next season, evidently have lost sight of the fact that it's just about a sure bet the November election will make Sunday baseball legal in Pennsylvania's major league towns and many others in 1934.

Some have it all doped out that Mack will do some more tall selling next winter, and will not stop at disposing of George Earnshaw. The Red Sox want Mickey Cochrane, the White Sox would give a gold mine to get Lefty Grove, and the Tigers are reported ready to pay a huge sum for Jimmy Foxx.

OF COURSE, if the future offered nothing after another lean financial season, Mack might let some of his players go in order to fill the void in the treasury. But if Pennsylvania is opened to Sunday ball, and there is every assurance the voters in November will see that it is, the situation will be altogether different.

Baseball in Philadelphia would pay very few dividends if Mack were to part with his stars and then find Sunday games legal. To make money on Sunday, a winning club is just as vital as on any other day, and don't imagine for an instant that wise old Connie is going to overlook that fact.

---

IN AMERICAN TENNIS circles it has been contended that attendance at the big tournaments in recent years fell off because the Davis Cup had been absent so long, since the French took it away in 1927. But John Kieran points out that prior to this year's victory, Great Britain had not won the famous trophy since 1912, yet the English tennis fans kept filling the Wimbledon stadium just the same, season after season. This year's Wimbledon championships drew more than 150,000 spectators, which must have made the Forest Hills officials gasp. No doubt the fact that admission prices are lower in England has something to do with it, but aside from that, interest in the game clearly has been much stronger there than in this country. And in view of the sustained patronage while the trophy was elsewhere, picture the crowds in England next season now that it has come back after 21 years.

COMMON SENSE DICTATES that nothing can fit an athlete of any type so well for approaching competition in his special line as continued practice at his own game. Yet you hear frequently about some prominent performer who is endeavoring to get himself into shape by dabbling in a different sport

Pop Foster, manager of Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight fistic champion, teaches them all a lesson in the shortest sermon on record. A Los Angeles reporter asked Foster what he considered the best type of exercise for a boxer. Pop's reply was a classic in one word. He said: "BOXING."

---

IT IS THE belief of Edwin Dooley, track expert, that the coaches of old were right after all in the matter of selecting shot-putters for their teams. They picked the biggest men they could find.

Then the Californians upset that theory by proving that men scaling only 185 pounds could heave the 16-pound ball past the 50-foot mark from the seven-foot circle. The dreadnaughts went out of style. Only big men of the type of Leo Sexton and Eric Krenz, who were perfectly proportioned, could hold their own with the new and lighter champions

Jack Torrance

BUT NOW COMES Jack Torrance to shatter the illusion created by California's line of 185-pound champions. He is the Louisiana State University star who set the new world record of 52 feet 10 inches, in winning the shot-put at the National Collegiates in Chicago this year. The old mark was 52 feet 7⅞ inches, established in 1932 by H. Heljasz, of Poland. Torrance is a giant weighing 265 pounds, and whether it is his tremendous bulk, or his muscular coordination, that supplies the motivation when he sends the weight unprecedented distances, the fact remains that he is a living refutation of the theory of recent years that a man must be built along certain lines to be a champion shot-putter. The huge Southerner is belated evidence that the old coaches' notion of mass behind the ball was not so far from right. Torrance also is a college boxing champion in the South, and more than one fistic manager is eyeing him speculatively, figuring that if he decided to go in for professional fighting he might be developed into a worthy opponent for Primo Carnera.

The Parmelee and Iroquois clubs have a Greater Pittsburgh League game scheduled for Magee Field this evening.

With a win needed badly to keep the team in the league race, Regis Leheny will go to the mound for Parmelee, with Jack Cummings behind the bat.

Two games are booked for the City League this evening. Homewood goes to Dormont, where the South Hills club will show a revamped lineup. Buff Donnelli and Dante Villani, two boys from the Panhandle League, will be in the infield for the Dormonters.

Villani is classed as the best fielding third baseman around Bridgeville, and Buff, who stars at football and soccer, probably can hold his own with the City Leaguers.

Whitaker, the league leader, meets the Cochrans.

County Links Stars In Playoff Match

Carl F. Kauffmann, champion of South County Park, and Al Shacoski, champion of North County Park, will meet at North Park Tuesday in the first half of the 36-hole match to determine the county park's golf champion and the winner of the William D. Mansfield trophy.

The second 18 holes of the 36-hole match will be played at South Park on Wednesday afternoon. Both rounds will get under way at 1 o'clock.

East Pittsburgh High Coach Weds

Johnny Coleman, director of athletics and coach at East Pittsburgh High School, was married this morning to Miss Helen Loretta Hughes, of 6324 Alderson street, Squirrel Hill.

St. Philomena's Church, Beechwood boulevard, was the scene of the marriage ceremony. The celebrant of the nuptial mass was the Rev. Father Arthur Brophy, of St. Bonaventure College, Allegany, N. Y., the institution attended by the groom. Johnny excelled in football, baseball and boxing while at St. Bonaventure. He also attended Duquesne University.

After the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary Dunn, of Homestead. The couple will spend their honeymoon in the East.

SPEEDWAY SUED

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Howard Wilcox, automobile race driver, has filed suit in Circuit Court against Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials and the contest board of the American Automobile Association asking $100,000 damages for slander and libel. The suit was based upon disbarment of Wilcox from the 500-mile race at the Speedway last May 30.

Tony Piet Slugs Way Near Top

Tony Piet, the young Pirate infielder, who has been hitting at a terrific clip in the past few days, won a place in the Big Six yesterday at the expense of one of the idle members. Piet cracked out three hits in five times up against St. Louis for a record of 15 safeties in five games, and shot his mark up five more points to .339. This gain sent him past Chick Fullis, of the Phillies, by one point and into third place in the National League batting list and sixth in the Big Six. All the other members of the sextet had a day of scheduled idleness. The standings:

Indian Slab Star Fined, Suspended

CLEVELAND, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Oral Hildebrand, leading pitcher on the Cleveland Indians, was under the ban of an indefinite suspension today and ordered by Manager Walter Johnson to pay a $100 fine for a display of temper in St. Louis Monday.

The fine was ordered when Hildebrand hurled the resin bag to the ground in disgust at being removed from the box after he walked three men and allowed one hit in the wild seventh inning eight-run rally that enabled the Browns to win, 12 to 8. Smarting under that order, the young pitcher exchanged hot words with Johnson before yesterday's game in St. Louis and was ordered suspended indefinitely.

Hildebrand said he would present his case before General Manager Billy Evans here tomorrow.

PIRATES SCORE THEIR EIGHTH WIN IN ROW

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

It scarcely is necessary today to inform Pirate fans that the August drive is on in baseball. The fist fight between Steve Swetonic and George Watkins in the opener of the Pirate-Cardinal series at Forbes Field yesterday reflected the tempers of the members of the two clubs, who feel they have excellent chances to win the National League pennant.

The oppressive heat of the day probably had something to do with the tussle between Swetonic and Watkins. Watkins took up the cudgel for Leo Durocher who had been hit by one of Steve's pitches at the start of the seventh. After the Bucs had retired the Cards, Swetonic was walking toward his bench when Watkins approached him and rebuked him with an abusive term. The Pirate pitcher resented the remark and the two resorted to fisticuffs. Other players and the umpires separated them.

The Pirates gave Swetonic a five-run lead in the first inning and Steve nursed it, the Buccos winning, 9 to 3. Bill Walker was shelled off the hill in the first. Dazzy Vance replaced him.

Waite Hoyt went to the mound in the eighth, after Swetonic, with Watkins, had been banished. Steve, however, was credited with the victory. Johnson finished on the slab for the Cardinals.

The Buccos won their eighth straight triumph in the opener, to tie the seasonal record of the National League. The Cubs also won eighth in succession. The Cards saw their six-game winning streak snapped as Frank Frische made his managerial debut in Pittsburgh.

Burleigh Grimes, recently cast adrift by the Chicago Cubs, who has been signed by the Cards, joined his new mates here today.

HUBBELL SETS MOUND RECORD, THEN LOSES

DEFEAT COSTLY TO GIANTS IN FLAG RACE

Associated Press.

Carl Hubbell held a new National League shutout record today, but his five-game winning streak had come to an end, and as a result the New York Giants' lead over the onrushing Pittsburgh Pirates had shrunk alarmingly.

Starting with 40 1-3 consecutive shutout innings behind him, Hubbell went on yesterday until he had cracked Ed Reulbach's 25-year-old National League record of 44. Then the heat and the Boston Braves' batters got him in the sixth; Boston scored two runs to end the streak at 46 innings and went on to beat the Giants, 3 to 1. The defeat, with Pittsburgh's 9-3 slaughter of the St. Louis Cardinals, cut the Giants' lead to two and one-half games.

CHASED IN SIXTH

Hubbell was in his best form at the start, giving only two hits up to the sixth. Then Bill Urbanski, Buck Jordan and Randy Moore smacked him for singles that scored two runs, ruined Hubbell's streak and won the ball game. Huck Betts went the route for the Braves.

Reulbach's old record, which had stood since 1908, included the Cub pitcher's great feat of blanking Brooklyn twice in one day.

The Pirates hardly needed more than the first inning to chalk up their eighth straight victory as they assaulted Bill Walker for five runs they went on and hit Dazzy Vance hard and wound up with a little impromptu fist throwing between Steve Swetonic and George Watkins.

CUBS BEAT REDS

The Cardinals skidded into fourth place again as the Chicago Cubs broke a six-game losing streak with a 3-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Pat Malone held the Reds to five hits while the Cubs bunched five hits for all their runs in the third.

In the only American League game, the Cleveland Indians slid off into a fourth place tie with Detroit's Tigers as the Browns rapped Monte Pearson in the early innings and coasted to a 5-2 victory behind Sam Gray's fine pitching.

District Legion Champs Off for Reading Series

SOUTH HILLS POST, WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA CHAMP, HEADS FOR READING FOR PLAYOFFS WITH EASTERN TITLEHOLDERS

READING MEETS SOUTH HILLS

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Swamping the Minersville junior team in the first four innings to coast to a 17-to-4 win, the Reading Junior Keys won the Eastern Pennsylvania championship in the American Legion tournament.

Reading will meet South Hills, of Pittsburgh, Western Pennsylvania champions, at Lauer's Park, Reading, tomorrow, in the first game of the series for the state title.

BARR CARDS 84 AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—It took a local boy to show the way in the first half of the qualifying round of the national public links golf tournament yesterday, Tab Boyer, a Portland favorite, cracking par wide open with a dazzling 68, four under perfect figures.

All the other 164 competitors, with the exception of Robert Tomes, of Long Beach, Cal.; Bob Hofer, of Parkrose, Ore., and Charles Ferrera, of San Francisco, struggled in vain to keep up with the "old man" of the course.

Boyer, captain of the Portland team, and semi-finalist in last year's tourney at Louisville, gained the inside track for medal honors in the final 18 holes today when he led the field by three strokes.

Joe Carcia, of St. Paul, shared honors with two Washington boys, Bud Ward, of Olympia, and William Brown, of Seattle, for the place behind Hofer and Ferrera. They posted 73's.

The defending champion, Robert Lee Miller, of Jacksonville, Fla., made the lowest nine-hole score of the day when he clipped three strokes off par on the homeward nine for a 33, but his miserable 41 on the outward nine gave him a total of 74.

Tom Barr, of Pittsburgh, the Steel City's lone entrant, finished far down in the list with a card of 42-42—84.

Slusser, Moore Win Ring Bouts

A single knockout featured the outdoor amateur boxing show staged by the Pittsburgh Lyceum last night. Tom Slusser, former Schenley High School all-round athlete and a member of the Penn State boxing team last year, won by a technical knockout over Jimmy Auth, of the Lyceum, in the first round.

Freddie Moore, of Duquesne University, hard-hitting 145-pounder, defeated Johnny Leonard, of the Lyceum in a three-round scrap. The summary:

112-pound class—Johnny Gallo, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Jimmy Fortunato, Frawley A. C.; Tommy Ryan, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Joe Giglotti, Linwood Club.

118-pound class—George Morgan, Pittsburgh Lyceum, defeated Johnny Nitchey, South Side.

145-pound class—Freddie Moore, Duquesne University, defeated Johnny Leonard, Pittsburgh Lyceum.

160-pound class—Tom Slusser, Frawley A. C., knocked out Jimmy Auth, Pittsburgh Lyceum, 1 round.

BASEBALL COMEDY

—By NICK ALTROCK—

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Well, I see all the Giants' success is because they got a slogan. Blondy Ryan thought up "They cannot beat us," and the rest of the Giants adopted it, just like a Rotary club, and now look at 'em!

Nick Altrock

Well, if slogans can win a pennant it is up to the other teams to get some quick. If the Phillies adopted "Eventually—why not now?" for their motto, I suppose they could cop the rag this year instead of 1954. Or a smart team could take "Avoid B. O." for their slogan. They could keep yelling it all through the game. This would make the opposing pitcher B. O.-conscious and pretty soon he would be running for the shower baths.

Personally, I am in favor of our Washington Club using "Good to the last drop" for our motto. That will give us confidence even when we're in a slump.

WOMEN ATTAIN SEMI-FINALS

P. T. A. Inter-Club League

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Mrs. Jean Artzberger, the defending champion, and Mrs. Helene Kauffeld, whom she defeated for the crown last year, today gained the semi-final round in women's singles in the fourth renewal of the Pittsburgh public parks tennis championships, in progress since Monday on the Frick Park courts.

Mrs. Artzberger won without the loss of a game in eliminating Melva Fleming, and Mrs. Kauffeld was almost equally impressive in putting out Miss Joy Hartman, 6-2, 6-0.

Mrs. Artzberger and Mrs. Kauffeld are in opposite brackets, and indications are that they again will meet for the crown.

Eugene Solow and Joe Tucker gained the quarter-final round in today's men's singles milling. The former won over Jack Manning, 6-1, 9-7, and Tucker advanced at the expense of Irwin Solow, 6-0, 6-3.

Frank Smith's Edgewood crew grabbed off two singles decisions out of three from the champion P. A. A. host on the Suburbanite lot last evening to square the going of the Winged Head-Edgewood joust at 3-3.

The Shannopin - Westinghouse match, billed originally for the North Boroughs courts a week ago last Saturday and postponed twice because of rain, has been defaulted by the Lampus contingent to the Electric troupe, the latter thereby overhauling the Shannopinders in the First Division P. T. A. chase.

FRANK SHIELDS ADVANCES AT SOUTHAMPTON

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Back on his game once more, big Frank Shields appeared today to be the man to beat for the singles championship of the Meadow Club's forty-third annual invitation tennis tournament.

The 22-year-old New Yorker apparently has struck his real stride in the last two weeks, winning the Crescent-Hamilton invitation title and the Seabright bowl in succession, but he reserved his finest display of tennis for the second round of the Meadow Club tournament yesterday.

Pitted against Herbert L. Bowman, Shields swept through the veteran without the loss of a game. It was the first time in Bowman's long tournament experience that he had failed to win at least one game.

Shields' victory sent him into the quarter-finals along with the defending champion, Sidney B. Wood, of New York; Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, national indoor champion; Frankie Parker, national clay courts king; Jack Tidball, of Los Angeles, intercollegiate title-holder; Dick Murphy, of Utica, N. Y.; John McDiarmid, of Forth Worth, and Bryan Grant, of Atlanta.

The quarter-finals in singles will be played tomorrow with Wood arrayed against Tidball, Parker against Murphy, Shields against McDiarmid and Mangin against Grant.

Doubles play was to hold exclusive sway today.

Cooper, Marcovsky Signed by Rooney

Art Rooney, president of the newly-organized Pittsburgh Pirates, local entry in the National Football League, has announced the signing of two linemen.

After signing Sam Cooper, of Geneva, a tackle, yesterday, Rooney today came to terms with Abe Marcovsky, left guard on last year's Michigan varsity.

Entries Awaited In Junior Event

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Aug. 2.—The second annual Beaver County open junior tennis championship tournament will be held at the Geneva College courts Friday and Saturday, August 11 and 12. A host of racqueteers from the Tri-State district is expected to enter this event.

The tourney direction this year has been entrusted to a triumvirate composed of Arthur Webster, Ernest Reed, and Jack Henry. Entries can be sent to Arthur Webster, College Hill, Beaver Falls, Pa.

In 1932, Edwin Clark, Geneva College netman, won the championship when he defeated his collegiate teammate, Duane Littell, in the final round.

BOBBY JONES' GOLF

By BOBBY JONES

Only Golfer Who Has Won U. S. and British Amateur and Open Championships in the Same Year.

One of the qualities most to be desired in a golf stroke is smoothness, and smoothness becomes impossible unless the backswing is amply long to allow time for gradual acceleration of the club in coming down. A backswing that is too short brings about the necessity of making a sudden effort in the act of hitting. Bridging the gap between zero, velocity and maximum in the shorter space implies hurry and effort which very easily can destroy the rhythm of the stroke. Such a procedure is directly opposed to the motion of swinging the club-head.

Nowhere is the disastrous effect of a short backswing more easily noted than in the play on and around the greens. Here, particularly, where smooth stroking is absolutely essential, the short, choppy stroke soon leaves its perpetrator entirely helpless.

Bobby Jones

Some men have become good holers-out, employing a short backswing and a distinct hit in the stroke—that is, they have had a fair amount of success in getting the ball into the hole from the shorter distances on reasonably flat greens. But those who putt in this way invariably have difficulty with the longer putts, and on keen undulating greens where a delicate touch is of first importance. The man who takes a short, sharp rap at the ball never will be able to compete in these respects with the putter who wings the club.

LOOK TO BACKSWING

Almost always I am able to trace my putting troubles to an abbreviated or too-rapid backswing. Whenever I am swinging the club back smoothly and in a broad sweep without hurry, I am confident of putting well. When I am not doing so, I know I will putt badly. The shorter backswing makes me hit sharply and jerkily without a chance to control the force of the blow.

The stroke which I like, especially on greens that are keen and true, is one which appears to float the club into the ball and gently waves it over the smooth surface. Such a stroke is pleasing to the eye and the sense of feel, and it is very reliable.

BURKE GIVES VIEWS

The same thing applies with equal force to chipping and other short approach work. Bill Burke, one of the finest short-game players in the world, has said that he makes a point of swinging back even a little farther than necessary when playing the first few chips of any round. He recognizes the importance of an ample backswing, and feels that it is easier to make sure of it at the start than to work into it from the other direction.

It is never very difficult for the player himself to feel the jerk in his swing when he has one. Whenever he becomes conscious of a nervous, jittery stroke on or around the greens let him look first to his backswing. The easiest way back to smoothness and confidence is to swing the club leisurely and amply.

Seals Honor Local Scots Over WCAE

In commemoration of the thirty-fifth annual outing of the Scottish Clans of Western Pennsylvania, to be held Saturday at Kennywood Park, the Trained Seals of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports department, will have as their guests for a 15-minute broadcast over Station WCAE at 7 o'clock this evening, prominent members of the picnic committee.

Thomas Fraser

Sam Hunter and Jack Sutherland, of the North Side, famous Scotch pipers, and Anthony Jones, tenor soloist and conductor of the Pittsburgh Scottish Choir, who will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jones, will offer well-known Scottish selections.

The speakers on the program will be Thomas Fraser, a member of the general committee, and Thomas Clark, president of the Scottish Clans and for 17 years chairman of the picnic committee.

The program will be under the supervision of Julius Levin, of the sports department, and Leland Becraft, WCAE staff announcer.

MIXED FIELD AT BUTLER

By TOM BIRKS

A mixed foursome tourney at the Butler Country Club holds the golf spotlight today. Professional Walter Johnstone has been sending foursomes away since early morn and a record field for the Butler club is expected to compete.

George Ormiston, secretary of the West Penn Golf Association, has sent out an added list of starters for the national amateur qualifying round scheduled over the links of the Oakmont Country Club next Tuesday.

In the new list, 24 starters are named to get away from Oakmont's initial tee. Juniors, or really youngsters in competitive golf, will dominate the field. The national amateur is scheduled for Cincinnati this year.

Instead of Ray Babcock, Bobby Lyne, Rob Morrison, W. C. Fownes, Jr., and Bernd Rose and many other of the veterans in the district occupying the limelight, Fred Brand, Jr., Billy Marks, Regis Wolff and Denny St. Clair are to compete.

These lads have carried the Pittsburgh standard nobly in the past. Fred Weppner, of the Field Club, could be classed as a veteran, and he will be in the field, but the notable veterans of the district are conspicuous by their absence.

NEW YORK. — (AP.) — Mercer Beasley Princeton tennis coach, who acted as an unofficial aid with the United States Davis Cup tennis team in Paris, returned today on the liner Champlain, denying his coaching had anything to do with the American defeat, but willing to accept the blame, if any. Beasley said overconfidence may have played a large part in the defeat of Ellsworth Vines but that it could not be charged against his physical condition.

PHILADELPHIA — Setting a new Philadelphia Country Club course record of 69 in his final round yesterday, Ed Dudley, Concordville pro, won the Philadelphia open golf championship with a 72-hole score of 288—a record total for the event.

Between Rounds

Harry Dublinsky, lightweight, of Chicago, who fights Charley Baxter, North Side belter, in the feature of the four 10-round bout show at Hickey Park, Millvale, Monday night, is one of the most pleasing boxers in the game and a favorite with the local fans. His appearance here may bring about a change in the gate receipts. Let's hope so anyway. Charley Burns, of Johnstown, was signed to box Jimmy Thomas, local Negro featherweight, in the semi-final. Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw, clashes with Eddie Pucci, of Canton, O., in the third bout.

Sammy Slaughter, who knocked out Jack Kirk at the North Braddock Bowl Monday night, is meeting Willie Oster, of Milwaukee, in the 10-round main go at Chicago tomorrow night.

Dominick Mancini, a good lightweight making North Side his home, will box in Terre Haute, Ind., for Bud Taylor in a 10-rounder in two weeks. Taylor watched Mancini work out here the other day and was pleased with his ability.

U.S. NETTERS LAUD BRITONS

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—America's returning Davis Cup players place the blame for their defeat by Great Britain in the interzone finals squarely on the shoulders of Fred Perry and Bunny Austin, England's singles aces. The team arrived from Europe yesterday.

Ellsworth Vines, star of the United States team, said:

"We were in good condition, but the Englishmen were just too good. What are you going to do when an opponent makes just one error against you in two sets? That's what Austin did when he played me."

And Wilmer Allison agreed. He remarked:

"From where I was standing, and I was standing fairly close, I'd say Perry and Austin were just playing too well."

Vines did think that he and Allison were "over-tennised mentally if not physically" by their long tour last winter in Australia, and also said the slow French courts and the slow ball killed their speed.

None of the players thought Mercer Beasley, well-known coach, who acted as unofficial adviser, had anything to do with the defeat.

Former Prominent Baseball Man Dies

Wolter began his baseball career 40 years ago as a second baseman with Memphis. He was traded to Birmingham and later sold to the Kansas City Blues, going from there to manage the Pueblo (Col.) team. He withdrew from organized baseball more than 10 years ago.

STEEL SHOWING UNEXPECTED STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Iron Age says:

Pig iron production in July was 1,819,438 tons, or 58,692 tons daily, compared with 1,265,007 tons, or 42,166 tons per day, in June. The rate of output was the highest since May, 1931. The month saw a net gain of 16 active furnaces.

Steel demand is showing unexpected staying powers, and ingot production remains unchanged from a week ago at 57 per cent of capacity. At Pittsburgh operations have declined from 50 to 49 per cent, at Chicago from 56 to 52 per cent, at Buffalo from 60 to 57 per cent and in the Wheeling district from 90 to 85 per cent. On the other hand, production in the Eastern Pennsylvania district has risen sharply from 41 to well over 47 per cent, the rate in the Cleveland-Lorain zone has advanced from 67 to 69 per cent, and there have been slight gains in minor centers.

From present indications steel output this month is less likely to be affected by seasonal influences than by a shortage of fuel. Efforts of the United Mine Workers to unionize coal and coke operations in Southwestern Pennsylvania have assumed threatening proportions, in some cases causing entire suspension of work. Continuance of these labor difficulties for any length of time might well result in the exhaustion of accumulated supplies of fuel and pig iron, with an ultimate curtailment or stoppage of steel production at various plants.

STRIKE HITS SCHEDULES

The trouble in the coal and coke region has already had some effect on operating plans. A Cleveland steel company, which had prepared to blow in a blast furnace, has deferred lighting it until the fuel outlook clears up. A new uncertainty has appeared to perplex buyers of iron and steel. Recent purchases to escape higher prices may now have to be followed by well distributed orders to insure deliveries.

Demand from the automobile industry, the largest single consumer of iron and steel, is holding up unusually well. Production of motor cars last week reached a new high point for the year and assemblies for July are expected to total 240,000 units. Output in August, according to present indications, will compare favorably with the performances of June and July.

FEDERAL WORK AHEAD

Makers of heavy rolled steel products will benefit from the government's naval program.

Fabricated structural steel awards for the week aggregate 33,135 tons. More than 900 government building projects, calling for 160,000 tons of steel, have been officially sanctioned.

Owing to a further slight upward adjustment in delivered prices on Southern pig iron, The Iron Age pig iron composite has advanced from $15.90 to $15.94 a ton. The finished steel and scrap composites are unchanged.

COLORADO FUEL GETS RECEIVER

DENVER, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—A receiver was appointed for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, a $50,000,000 corporation in Federal Court yesterday on application of a New York trust company which owns a large block of the bonds of one of the company's subsidiaries.

Judge J. Foster Symes appointed Arthur Roeder, president of the company, as receiver. Roeder said the company's business would be carried on under supervision of the court.

Company directors voted Monday to default payment of $804,000 interest due August 1 on its bonds.

In applying for a receiver, the New York trust company set forth that it had demanded interest due August 1 on bonds of the Colorado Industrial Company. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company admitted the applicant's contention and consented to the equity receivership.

A statement issued by the company said, a top-heavy financial structure and heavy losses in revenue because railroads have been unable to purchase steel rails was responsible for the company's present situation.

Guided by Rockefeller interests, which still are reported to be large holders of its stocks and bonds, the Colorado Fuel and Iron developed, since its formation in 1892, into the largest producer of coal and steel west of the Mississippi River.

Canada Offering Oversubscribed

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(AP.)—Optimistic expectations were borne out when the lists for the new Canadian loan of £15,000,000 (currently $66,500,000) were closed today with a substantial over-subscription, directly after they had been opened.

This is the first Canadian loan on the London market in 20 years. It is in 4 per cent bonds, sold at par and with no discount for cash in 20 and 25 years issues. It is understood the loan will be used to pay victory bonds of 5½ per cent redeemable this fall.

Reliance Writings Gain 12% in July

An increase of 12 per cent in new life insurance for July, compared with July, 1932, is reported by Reliance Life Insurance Company. The business of the Western Pennsylvania department showed a gain of 27 per cent for July, which was the largest month since last November. Reliance insurance sold in July included $4,324,897 life, $475,833 accident and $2,636.25 weekly indemnity health insurance.

Gripping Story of Life Behind The Scenes at Hollywood

CHAPTER XVIII.

Leni relaxed in his arms, her eyes closed.

She had absolutely no idea what life was doing with her. At last she had come to the point when she had ceased to care. Against the breast of Lucky Cavanaugh, encompassed by his muscular arms, she would find solace, or find it nowhere. Everything else—even the brief soaring jealousy—had passed out of the life of this storm-tossed woman.

"Which one is your bedroom?"

A silken sleeve slipped back from her rounded arm as she flung it out in wordless direction.

Whatever happened to her from now on could not possibly be worse than what had happened in the past. The taste of glory had gone bitter in her mouth. There was nothing to do but lie limp in Cavanaugh's arms as he carried her on.

A vagrant thought stirred in her mind. How little the public knew of the real story of Leni Luneska!

She simply was no longer interested in either the public or her own career. All of that was passed and scarcely worth thinking about, but suddenly, deep within her, came a tiny soft pang of nostalgia—not sorrow, nor struggle, merely a little soft ache of regret.

Cavanaugh was standing beside the bed, still holding her in his arms. Her cheek was against the silk facing of his dinner jacket. From his body came a clean smell of cigarets and splendid clothing. His arms tightened around her for a moment and she could feel with her body the steady throbbing of his heart.

"You poor little kid!" he whispered.

A FORGOTTEN DREAM

She was conscious of something strangely beautiful surrounding her and this man—or was it only an illusion of the senses? Yet it was something curiously familiar—a quality of feeling never before felt, yet vaguely remembered as a half-forgotten dream.

Very gently Cavanaugh lowered her to the bed. Her head with its fragrant hair rested upon a small cushion of silk no larger than a baby's pillow.

Her breast rose and fell—utter peace, devoid of any excitement, rippled softly throughout her being. It did not matter much whether or not it would prove eternal. Here and now was a moment of delicious calmness that transcended any possible passion. A moment so exquisitely and completely perfect that it was worth everything in life she had suffered to reach.

Cavanaugh sat down on the side of the bed and picked up her hand. That was all. . . .

Leni snuggled her head more comfortably and gave her body a tiny stretch. She was pleasantly tired, but the gripping weariness of inner and outer storms had miraculously seeped out of the slender and perfect body. Life had become almost a dream, and she wondered, hazily, whether Cavanaugh was dreaming it too.

STRANGE IMPRESSION

Her eyes opened slowly. She looked up at him. Perhaps in the poor light it was an illusion, but it seemed that his features had softened—that he had taken on a tenderness of expression that had erased all that was tense and sophisticated.

For the moment he seemed scarcely to be a creature of flesh and blood but rather an entity composed of something rarer than mere human clay. Such impressions depend, of course, upon the state of humand mind and it may be that Leni perceived some unaccountable spiritual essence that constituted the man. Perhaps her vision was no more than an outpicturing of her own inner self transferred to another.

"Please—always be like this," she whispered.

The man gazed at her adoringly. Her hand in his palm was like a bird in a warm nest.

"I'm so tired, Lucky," she said. "I don't know what anything's all about any more . . . and I don't care . . ."

He did not answer and she watched him silently for a moment.

"What's the matter, dear?" she asked.

REALITIES RETURN

When he spoke it was as though a barbaric hand had brushed aside a gossamer veil.

"You win!" he said abruptly. "When I brought you upstairs I meant to put you on your bed and leave here right away. I didn't want to get under any woman's spell. You're a movie star and that means you're a hundred to one shot to top any man that gets mixed up with you. I've always been the ace in my own particular pack, and I don't want to be the deuce. I thought I had everything figured out. My idea was to see you through this jam and then forget about you—for my own self-protection. It was a swell idea but it didn't work."

Something in Leni's breast began to go dead. His words had smashed through the glistening fabric of her dream and brought her back to the harsh realities she had sought to escape.

"And now what?" she asked with a beginning of sadness.

Synopsis

At the premiere of her latest picture, Leni Luneska, beautiful star, is stunned by the appearance of her jailbird husband. He insists upon recognition as her husband. Lucky Cavanaugh, handsome gambler, tries to make Kruger leave. Kruger empties his gun at Cavanaugh without effect, then rushes into the next office in a rage. He surprises burglars looting a safe and is shot dead. Later as Leni and Cavanaugh are about to leave the theater to avoid questioning, Detective Mulrooney stops them. They deny knowing Kruger, Cavanaugh telling a plausible story of how he and Leni met, fell in love, and were running away from Leni's elderly escort. Lucky cautions Leni against talking, but she tells all to Mulrooney. Mulrooney gives Cavanaugh four days in which to find the guilty man. A gangster friend of Cavanaugh warns him about the men who shot Kruger. They fear Cavanaugh will "squeal." After leaving the man, Cavanaugh goes into Leni's home.

Now Go On

Her eyes opened slowly and she looked up at him.

He leaned forward until his face became a dark cloud hanging over her.

"I want you too much to leave you!" he said with almost a song in his voice. "I've never seen anything so beautiful."

The strange thing about it was that Cavanaugh's words fell upon her like sleet, chilling and freezing the heavenly feeling of her contentment.

This man who knew so much about women knew nothing. She had yearned for something more tender, more chivalrous.

Cavanaugh did not understand. He was trying to give her—and take from her—that which was deeply hidden in the gloomy caverns of her memory . . . Men! Men . . . With all their imagination rooted in animalistic brutal passion . . . He did not understand that her battered soul had found its only sanctuary in the immense fatigue of her career . . .

"I wanted it to be . . . different . . ." said Leni in a whisper his ears strained to hear.

His face hovered motionless, baffled, "How do you mean—different?"

Leni lifted her free hand and ran her fingers through his dark abundant hair. He was all man . . . all man . . .

"Darling . . ." she whispered.

Cavanaugh's face descended until his mouth rested upon Leni's. Her lips lay motionless without any responding warmth under his kiss.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"I don't know . . ."

Leni was surprised at this coldness of her heart. What had become of his power to thrill her? Where was the warmth that ought to be there?

"I only know," she said slowly, "that it's different now. Maybe it was that woman on the telephone. Maybe something you said. I'm afraid, perhaps . . ."

"Afraid of what?"

"Afraid you'll think I'm too cheap, maybe. I don't know about other women—only myself. There was something beautiful in it, but beauty is so fragile. There have been so many unbeautiful things in my life—I want no more of them. Perhaps it is something no man can understand."

The Junior Patrol Mail Box

And now the picnic is over.

But, oh, boy, oh, boy, wasn't it a wonderful day all the way through?

We especially liked the way Junior Patrol members were courteous and patient with each other and with the hundreds and thousands of other kids there.

You know, it doesn't cost anything to be courteous and cheerful, and it costs a lot NOT to be. Being kind and courteous is one of the best ways to help others, because it helps to make things easier and more pleasant for everybody.

West View Park never saw a more enthusiastic crowd of kids. They took the park over, and had fun all day long. It was their picnic and they made the most of it. Believe us, it made Spike, Snuggins and Brother Bill pretty happy.

It's almost always a fact that you get more fun and feel better when you make somebody else happy than when you have a good time yourself.

Those West View Park roller coasters sure did "slide!" Snuggins told us after the picnic last night he had his heart in his mouth half the time.

Now we expect the boys will start off on their travels again, and we can look forward to seeing them have some more adventures down the river and elsewhere.

How are your contests coming along, you captains? How's this for an idea—why don't you offer a prize for the member who brings in the most new members? Bet it wouldn't take long to have the biggest patrol in town. You have to have 10 members on your roll to get a Captain's armband, and there are lots of captains who don't have quite enough members yet. But they tell us that they are getting there, and that after vacations are over, and a lot of their friends, like Junior, get back from the seashore and the country, that they will have many more members.

Capt. Virginia Parker, of 5 Center avenue, Aspinwall, is a captain who doesn't have 10 members in her club yet. In her letter she says:

"I have just joined your club. Yesterday I told my girl friend about it and she said she wanted to belong so I am sending a pledge in for her.

"I got my badge and things a few months ago and my sister and brother got their's. So I have decided to start a club. There are to be six members (we just started our club) in my club."

We'll be hoping it won't be long until you get four more members in your club, Virginia.

And here's another interesting letter from Lois Horevitz, of 1539 Rockland avenue, Beechview. Lois is secretary of a new Beechview Patrol, of which Howard Lazear is Captain. She says:

"We have organized a Junior Patrol out here in Beechview and would like you to send our charter members buttons and cards. We have a secret knock for our clubhouse door and a secret name for our clubhouse and a secret name for our club."

Sounds swell, Lois—your club ought to have some mighty fine fun. Send us some more news about it as soon as you can, especially anything you do to help others.

An Echo From Poland

Well, we're gradually Americanizing diplomatic conferences. We'll have 'em smoking in the last three rows yet.

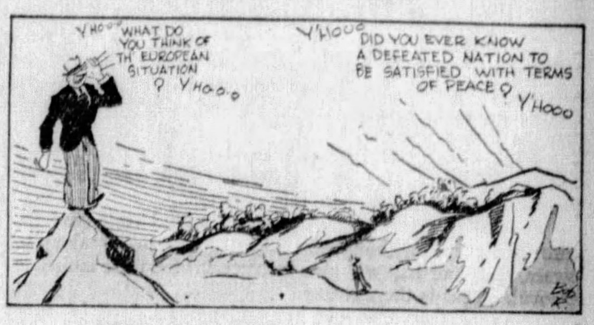
Nobody can dispute that the driver's seat is the jeweled throne of the grand mogul. The world is in tough shape and won't be fooled by opticians prescribing rose-colored glasses.

The journal "Critica," of Buenos Aires, asks the writer for 100 cabled words on the European situation. That would be a waste of "Critica's" money. All we know is that civilization started in a cave in Northern Europe and it will soon be back in the same place.

The boys are getting ready to do things and go places. The Treaty of Versailles was only an option. The clearest treatise we have read on the works consists of the remark of a Polish envoy to London a few years back.

He said, "History has no record of any defeated nation being satisfied with the terms of peace."

Kick that around inside your hat for a few minutes. And there you have the squeaky axle that gets the grease.



Y'HOOO WHAT DO YOU THINK OF TH EUROPEAN SITUATION ? Y'HOOO
Y'HOOO DID YOU EVER KNOW A DEFEATED NATION TO BE SATISFIED WITH TERMS OF PEACE ? Y'HOOO

There's going to be trouble as sure as a gun's iron. America can help 'em by staying out of it. Say, the lighthouse keeper who polices the warning beacon has done enough. He doesn't have to prove anything by sticking his head out into the storm.

So far as Hitler is concerned he seems to have followed Mussolini's capitalization of youth. The only difference is that Adolph organized youth and has to shave twice a day to stay in his own party.

Instead of consulting The Bug we think "Critica" could learn a lot more from any combined professor, lecturer and scolder. The Polish diplomat stated it as concisely as it can be hammered and condensed. The whole motif is getting even for the last time you were walloped. And Europe has a lot of scars to thumb. Poland remembers its former glory before France, Prussia and Russia hamburgered it. Will France forget Sedan? Or Germany the slopes of Verdun? And, if you think Russia ain't still sore over the Mazurian marshes you're as silly as the boy in the paper cone hat.

The Polish statesman is correct. There are no statues dedicated to laughing losers.

Candidates' Vandalism

The Defacing of Public or Private Property With Their Posters Shows Scant Respect For Law

What a pity—what a shameful commentary on public morals—it is, that the Civic Club of Allegheny County should have again found it necessary to remind the candidates for political office that there is a law forbidding the posting of their placards on public property, and also on private property unless the owner's consent has first been obtained in writing!

To be sure the campaign against this sort of vandalism is making headway. Not so many illegal signs are in evidence now as in former years when a primary was near. But it is disgraceful that there should be any, after all the warnings that have been given.

In some parts of the county candidates' cards are tacked on trees, telegraph poles and wherever else it was convenient. The landscape is marred with this advertising.

Several of those whose signs thus offend state that they were thus posted without their knowledge by overzealous followers, and that they will give instructions for their immediate removal. That is the right spirit.

It seems that it should be good politics, too; for many citizens will not be attracted to, but will be repelled by candidates who show such scant respect for the law as to violate the bill-posting statute. Most of those soliciting votes will have the duty, if elected, of either making or enforcing laws. They do not commend themselves for such responsibility if they violate the laws as a means of getting elected.

Apart from the fact that it is illegal, the posting of political signs is deplorable as an offense against the attractiveness of the community. Walls covered with politicians' ballyhoo are not an ornament to the city. The beauty of trees is spoiled when their trunks are stuck with candidates' signs. To make matters worse, the signs sometimes remain up for years after the election.

Let is be a matter of personal honor with every candidate that his signs shall not deface the landscape.

Inadvertent Offenders

What Shall Be Done With "Pillars of Society" Who Unintentionally Violate Traffic Laws?

Commenting on Pittsburgh's automobile accidents, Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, raises a hard question: Shall inadvertent offenders against the traffic regulations be punished?

Mr. McIntyre divides those responsible for motor mishaps into two classes—the automobile criminals and the inadvertent offenders. The automobile criminals are those whose recklessness is to all intents and purposes deliberate—men (and occasionally women) who do not hesitate to pass cars on hills or curves or to drive through red lights if they think there is a chance of "getting away with it." No sympathy need be wasted on them.

The inadvertent offender, as defined by Mr. McIntyre, may be in every way a fine man and a "pillar of society." He would not knowingly violate any of the regulations. But he may drive through a red light and crash into another machine or run over someone because his mind was busy on other things and he did not notice the light. Shall he go free?

Mr. McIntyre asks the question. While he does not answer it directly, he presents some information bearing on the matter which will leave no doubt in the minds of thoughtful persons that the safety of the public demands that inadvertent offenders shall be punished, also, though not as severely as the automobile criminals.

Most impressive is the fact that statistics from many sources show that as the ratio of convictions to arrests for violations of the traffic laws increases accidents invariably decrease.

That can only mean that inadvertent offenders, if punished, will not be so inadvertent thereafter when driving, and that others, too, noting the punishment, will be more alert to avoid accidents.

In Fourth Place

Pittsburgh Makes a Favorable Comparison With Other Cities in Respect to Library Expenditures

Libraries are second only to schools as an instrument for public education. The Bureau of Municipal Research has just issued a report on the expenditures of the 13 largest cities of the country for public libraries. It will be gratifying to Pittsburghers to learn that we make a favorable comparison with the others: we stand fourth.

Not Boston, "the Athens of America," is first, but Cleveland, with a per capita expenditure for public libraries in 1931 of $1.78. Boston is second, with an expenditure of $1.58. The others, in order, are: Los Angeles, $1.03; Pittsburgh, 89 cents; Buffalo and Detroit, 80 cents; Milwaukee, 66 cents; Baltimore, 63 cents; St. Louis, 60 cents; New York, 50 cents; San Francisco, 45 cents; Chicago, 42 cents, and Philadelphia, 38 cents.

We note with satisfaction, in the connection, that the benefits of public libraries are not confined in Pennsylvania to the inhabitants of the cities. The library extension division of the State Library, Department of Public Instruction, at Harrisburg, stands ready to lend books, free of any charge except the transportation expense, to readers in any part of the state. And scarcely a day passes that books are not forwarded, by parcel post, express or freight, to rural residents in practically every county.

That the country people avail themselves so readily of this service is to their credit. The whole commonwealth should benefit by the extension of education.

Let Them Swim

Don't Force Them.

A recent news item told of a mother who dipped her year-and-a-half-old baby in the surf at a beach resort, with the result that the baby died of fright. Whether fright caused the death or not, there is a lesson in the story that parents of young children should heed.

Many youngsters are timid about going into the water, and the well-meant efforts of older persons to teach them to swim frequently frighten them so thoroughly that they never learn to enjoy the sport as they otherwise would.

The former system of throwing a boy in over his head and letting him find his own way ashore worked in some cases, but it probably was responsible for more childish nightmares and injuries to young nervous systems than any torment that could be devised.

Left to himself, with proper supervision, it is a rare child that does not soon learn to swim.

Wise adults will let their juniors work out their own problems, ashore as well as afloat—not try to "break them in" with no more tact or consideration than a cowpuncher uses in breaking in a horse.

A Magnificent Example

(Copyright, 1933.)

In banning child labor under its new code, the cotton textile industry has performed distinguished public service.

The pending code of the automotive industry contains the same humane provision.

The effort to abolish child slavery has been long and difficult. But with industry itself accepting the great reform, what opposition can now remain? Doesn't the question answer itself?

A number of States have ratified the Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which will banish child labor entirely and prevent forever its return.

The task of protecting childhood from exploitation will not be completed until EVERY STATE has ratified the amendment.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Repeal—and Hot Waffles

Sam Hill, the Cincinnati sage, opines that it will take a big "mortician vote" to defeat Repeal.

* * *

"Mortician vote?" How about the doctor vote? The neurologist vote, the oculist vote, the heart specialist vote, the stomach specialist vote?

* * *

If the American stomach, liver and nervous system ever come back to normal, many a great physician won't know where his next million is coming from! Take away Prohibition and the whole medical profession will have less income tax to pay!

And don't forget to count the trained nurse vote. Prohibition has meant more than a noble experiment to thousands of trained nurses, who have devoted the last 10 good years to pumping the radiator alcohol out of the heroes and heroines of cocktail parties.

* * *

And there is the great big drug-store vote, remember! Many a good and faithful druggist will wonder how he is going to send Junior to college and keep up the payments on the limousine, once the sales in aromatic spirits of ammonia and bicarbonate of soda fall off! And just imagine how lost and lonesome he'll feel, with no wild calls at dawn for ASPIRIN and a headache powder!

* * *

Already, it has been whispered that many young collegians have thrown away their pocket-flasks and discarded bath-tub gin and corn, in favor of beer.

* * *

Think of it! A whole generation growing up with no acidosis, pyorrhea, arteriosclerosis, neuritis, gastritis, arthritis, sciatica, lumbago or rheumatism in its veins.

It just won't seem like the same old world! And what are the poor dieticians going to do—with nobody to put on a reducing diet or a bland diet or a buttermilk-and-spinach diet?

* * *

THEY'VE got a vote, TOO! Do you fancy they are going to let REPEAL take the bread and butter and radiator-alcohol out of their mouths?

* * *

No, Sirree! Practically this whole Nation has been on the diet-list or the sick-list, now, for the last dozen years. Every dinner party has ended in a CLINIC, with all the guests comparing symptoms, doctors and blood counts. Denatured alcohol, in all its beautiful guises and disguises has knocked the once fine old American stomach for a goal, and crossed all the wires in the American nervous system.

* * *

If ever the American constitution—I mean nervous system and digestion—becomes normal and healthy again, we won't know our own country! But, if that "mortician vote" isn't TOO big, maybe we can all go back to eating New England doughnuts and southern waffles again. And won't that be SWELL!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Enough time has elapsed for a sum-up of the Mexican painter Diego Rivera's quarrel with American capitalists, particularly the Rockefellers at Radio Center. Foreign artists are frankly humming: "Rivera, Stay Away From Ma Door." They believe he gummed up the works.

Briefly, it's going to be extremely difficult for non-American artists to draw commissions from this country for years. Radicals hoot at Rivera's newest offer to decorate labor temples gratis. They say he rushed to accept the Rockefellers' $21,000 hush money and then howled about a blow to his art.

Also it's charged his artist employes were underpaid, receiving $30 a week and less. His critics say his life has not been actuated by self-sacrifice and that when Mexico turned over her public buildings to artists to delineate the upward struggle, Rivera wangled a fat job as supervisor.

In the meantime Rivera has been dallying with the laciness of life while being exploited at literary and artistic teas. He is frankly the poseur with slumberous eyes, sitting aloofly in a corner and bestowing quick, brittle smiles but rarely saying a word.

* * *

One thing about Diego Riviera, however, bespeaks artistry. That is the graceful flourish of his hands. Gesturing always struck me as an exquisite science. The most notable on the stage have been Duse and Helen Menken. The latter's parents were mutes. Other performers who express this art are Lee Tracey, Frank Fay, James Cagney, DeWolf Hopper, Jack Haley, Zasu Pitts and those clowns Laurel and Hardy.

* * *

Paul Whiteman's flashy mustache has undergone another sudden change. Instead of the fat capsule with tiny twisted ends, like a waxed whatnot under glass, it is now slightly arched, something like this : : : : : : :

* * *

Articling James Cagney's brother, William, for films is another effort to break the "brother hoodoo." The experiment has never been successful. Victor McLaglen's brother did not make the grade. Neither did Adolphe Menjou's. Harold Lloyd's brother fared similarly. And Syd Chaplin continues to be known by cinema fans as "Charlie Chaplin's brother."

* * *

Great Neck, long a theatrical colony, attained an artistic flavor this summer. Among artists to hibernate there are Billy de Beck, Rube Goldberg, Leon Gordon, Russell Patterson and Everett Shinn. The literati congeals at Easthamption, among the residents of which are Grantland Rice, Irvin S. Cobb, Percy Hammond, Ring Lardner, Jack Wheeler and others.

* * *

West street is especially interesting when ships come in, especially tramps and tankers. For they land hefty sailors tired of food from flooded kitchens and the isolation of the seas. They want to drink and carouse. Willing arms are always waiting, too. Ladies of West street are not the pert odalisques of a Broadway night. Rather are they large, sometimes aproned and matronly. They do not coquette. Instead they grab a pair of seamen—sailors invariably leave a ship in pairs—and march them away, usually without protest.

* * *

I saw a boyish Scandinavian sailor in his work suit of blue denim, probably a cabin boy, hesitate at the end of a gangplank. It appeared his first visit and he was gloriously young. But his eyes were the bleak blue of heroes who once looked over the prow of a Viking galley. His cap with a red ribbon sat abaft his tousel of two-colored hair. He took a few hesitant steps forward, poised awhile, then turned, plunged hands in pockets and went up the shute whistling. I like to think he decided to spend an evening reading Conrad.

* * *

I stopped at a West street hashery for four egg sandwiches to take out to the car. The counterman called to the cook: "Four cackles to travel."

* * *

The sort of humor that touches me off in epileptic ripples of laughter seems to leave everybody else amazingly calm and unsmiling. I have been reading to everyone who came in today an extract from one of Stephen Leacock's detective story nonsenses without a grin. The line read: "He reached for his whiskers in the whisker dish."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Already—not yet six—the trees are drenched with light. Their leaves hang limp, soaked with the sun's bright rain.

But still the night scents last—thick fragrance of the pine, its sweetness harshly spiked with turpentine; perfume of willows, sharply fresh and green as the cool creek in which their roots are set; allspice of tar weed; wild rose; manzanita bush, whose bark smells of dried apples mixed with cinnamon. And, over all, the slow strong breathing of the drowsy soil.

The earth still sleeps, sprawled vast and naked under the wide sky, the vineyards clinging to it like a crumpled robe.

Beyond the vines, the trees. Pine forests, plumed with smoke, with shafts of copper set in long, dim aisles. Oak forests, with their dark, gnarled trunks and netted canopies, in which the sky seems caught in scraps of turquoise blue.

Nearer, tall eucalyptus trees on their silvery masts, with long leaves ghostly as gray, drifting fog. Old figs, their pale boles smooth as muscled swimmers, sunk waist deep within the pooled green gloom of their own shade.

And then the tangled growth about the house. A web of jasmine, flung along the roof; a veil of roses, falling by the door; magnolias, creamy white on lacquered leaves, and pomegranates, with their cups of crinkled flame. Beneath it all the black adobe soil, sun-baked and trampled to a hard, white tile.

Six. Seven, now. Like tightening wire, all the air grows taut. A killdee calls—its lonely, gypsy cry. The small dawn breezes stir once more, then die. The sky grows whiter; the blue shadows shrink.

Nine. Ten. Eleven.

Now it is high noon. The world's as still as some forgotten moon. There is no scent or movement, no shadow and no sound. Only the sunlight clangs against the hard, hot anvil of the ground.

Like painted films the miles of forest rise. Like painted flats the miles of vineyards lie. A buzzard hangs, unmoving, in the sky. Unmoving, Tom sleeps, face downward, by the barn.

Clang! It is one.

The cactus blades are black against the sun.

Clang! It is two.

The pines are peacock blue.

Clang! It is three—then four.

The light slants lower on the forest floor.

And now it's five. As though a spell broke, things become alive! Through the bleached grass there runs a movement like the turning tide. A gush of air! The trees breathe deeply; their limp foliage lifts. The flat earth stirs—gives out the odor of awaking flesh. Somewhere water tinkles.

There's pattering — a tiny squeak. A rabbit scuttles through the chaparral. A mustang whinnies in the log corral. Doves coo—a small, soft thunder on the thick, still air.

Now there's a breeze! The sun slips, molten, through black bars of trees. Wine dark, the shadows pour down from the hills. And, with a rush, the waiting valley fills with color—rose and apricot, that deepens into amber, then to mauve.

Pale in the twilight, points of flame appear.

The creek's cool call comes nearer, full and clear.

From some low doorway comes the thin, sweet trembling of a Spanish mandolin.

Like a black wing, the night spreads slowly through the dome.

A girl calls softly from the window of her home.

The mocking bird's low song drips slow as honey.

Then the song is gone.

The last light's vanished

And the sky's ablaze with stars.

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis.

The Thing You Fear

The thing you fear, how vast it seems!
It haunts your waking hours, your dreams,
It puts your happier thoughts to rout
And shuts the stars and sunshine out;
It makes all future ways look drear,
Hope faints before the thing you fear.

You go through life, yet scarcely live,
So little do the hours give
Of boons your heart and soul desire
To feed your spirit's flickering fire;
It daunts you ever, drawing near,
This dark, relentless thing you fear.

With back to wall you turn at last
To face the foe, so dire, so vast,
How strange it seems that naught is there
But only sun-drenched, song-filled air!
Your heart is strong, your sky is clear,
Freed from the phantom thing you fear!

Amy Johnson Acclaimed the World's Greatest Flying Girl—Her Strange Career—Mysterious Montagu Norman

By EDWIN C. HILL

WITH all due respect and admiration for Miss Amelia Earhart and other American ladybirds, we have to hand the diamond-studded lipstick to that slight, light-haired, blue-eyed Englishwoman, Amy Johnson, as the world's greatest flying girl.

Her latest triumph, flying the Atlantic, elbow to elbow with her gallant young husband, Capt. Jimmy Mollison, adds merely another heroic achievement to her long list of supreme adventures.

Amy Johnson was a Sunday school teacher in Hull and spent three years in Sheffield University before going up to London to take a job as stenographer for a law firm. Little did those dry legal gentlemen in their fubsy office dream that the demure young woman pecking away at her typewriter was destined shortly to take her place among the most famous of the world.

The Flight To Australia

AN airplane ride at a country fair changed her life. They called her "Johnny" at the airport where she went at night to potter among the planes after a long day's work as a typist in the city. She was captivated by planes, by the thrill of flying. She gave up movies, dancing and all other amusements and half-starved herself to save the $5 she had to pay for every flying lesson. And then, with nothing more than a flight of 150 miles to her credit, she hopped into a second-hand plane, which had only one motor and no wireless, and lit out for Australia, clear around on the other side of the world.

And in 20 days she was there, a record-breaking feat, and one of the most brilliant in the history of aviation. Almost unnoticed she took off, but when she floated down upon the island continent the entire British Empire gave three cheers.

One newspaper telegraphed her a prize of $50,000. King George made her a lady knight of the empire. And then she flew on to Tokio in 10 days and came home with the plaudits of the world wreathing her bright head.

Did it spoil her? Not a bit! When her husband-to-be, Capt. Mollison, flew from England to Maine she told him he was the greatest flier in the world and led him off to the altar, and presently she was roaring down along the coast of Africa, breaking all records from London to Capetown. And now she makes the Atlantic flight in the same plane with Husband Jimmy, and already seeks for new air roads to conquer.

A great girl, little Amy!

Montagu Norman, Man of Mystery

THERE'S a hint in the news that the mysterious and elusive Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England, is no longer the dictator, behind the scenes, of British financial policy, and that the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street, fascinated by the new gamble with an inflated pound, has turned away from the advice and counsel of the gentleman who hates inflation as the devil is said to hate holy water.

It was not so long ago that this distinguished looking individual slipped into America through the Boston gateway and booked, if you please, as 'Professor Charles Skinner," a pseudonymn which occasioned much chuckling among the unregenerate. Mr. Norman must have laughed himself at the futility of any alias. One might as well try to disguise Al Smith with false whiskers. For when newspapermen came upon a tall, striking figure of a man, with a finely shaped head, remarkable eyes, a perfect nose, a gray goatee and a carriage which needs only an Elizabethan doublet, a ruff and a sword to make him a double of Sir Walter Raleigh, they know they have spotted none other than the one and only Montagu Norman, 12 times Governor of the Bank of England.

He is the perfect picture, even in modern dress, of a handsome cavalier of the court of the Red Haired Queen, and would have played to faultless precision the part of an Earl of Essex. A very mysterious person at all times, is this gentleman who keeps house with the Old Lady of Threadneedle street, as the Bank of England has been called ever since it was organized by a canny Scotchman 141 years ago.

Never Attends Social Functions

HE is 60 years old, plays with paneling, pictures, music and the study of birds when he isn't holding up the finances of Great Britain by main strength, or slipping over here to whisper in the ear of the Federal Reserve. The Bank of England is a private company which lends money to governments and to banks, something like our Federal Reserve. It is an invisible government, the ancient bank, with powerful influences throughout the world—a keystone in the arch of capitalism.

When Montagu Norman is about the business of the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street he is shyer, even, than he is in private life. He boards trains as they start to move. He climbs up rope ladders to the decks of liners after the ships have put to sea. He hops into airplanes as the pilots start the motors roaring. Fiction can scarcely match him for mysterious comings and goings. And always, up to very recent times, at least, the financial world bristles with interest and expectation when this elusive star moves out of his regular orbit.

Men with billions at stake follow the comings and goings of the gentleman in the black slouch hat, the graceful cape coat and the pointed beard—like one of Dumas' musketeers—Athos for choice. He never attends social functions in England, but has a deputy to represent him.

Somehow one feels that this personality is too vigorous to be long repressed by the financial idiosyncracies of the times.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Because you try to get more than your share whenever you have an opportunity, may be the reason why you are not more liberally remembered by those in a position to favor you.

Someone has been generous with you in respect to presents or donations of money at times when it has helped you much.

But you were not satisfied and followed devious methods to extract larger gifts.

Of course you thwarted your own purpose.

And you deserve your fate.

None likes to feel imposed upon and even the most generous will withhold gifts which he might contemplate in your behalf, when such an impression is created.

The grasping person never appreciates what is done for him.

If you are one of the "gimme" persons you don't deserve anything.

No matter how strong and kindly family feeling for you may be; irrespective of how sincere friendship may be; those whom you try to use as an easy means of getting what you want will cease to be liberal when they begin to understand that your aim is to get all you can.

ISN'T IT SO?

Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

Clever men are good, but they are not the best.

To see clearly is poetry, prophecy and religion, all in one.

A clever man turns great troubles into little ones, and the little ones into none at all.

It is much easier to begin than to finish.

Example is a lesson that all men can read.

You can't judge the size of a man by the amount of space he occupies.

A small town is where people turn around to look instead of running when a tire bursts.
